IF IT DISAPPEARS, IT'S ECZEMA

How To Tell Whether a Skin Affection Is An Inherited Blood Disease Or Not.

Sometimes it is hard to determine whether a skin affection is a sign of a blood disorder or simply a form of eczema. Even physicians are often puzzled in their diagnosis. The best way for any one afflicted is to go to Dr. J. H. Burdick, 100 North Main Street, Lowell, Mass., who has a special department for the treatment of skin diseases. He will give you a complete examination and tell you whether you have eczema or a blood disease. He will also give you the best treatment for your condition.

JUSTICE MILLS

Puts Some Pointed Questions to Thaw

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 31.—The judge, not the prosecutor, who put the assurance of Harry E. Thaw on the witness stand yesterday, was Justice Isaac Mills.

Thaw, on the witness stand yesterday, was asked a series of pointed questions by Justice Mills. The questions were about Thaw's conduct during the trial and his relationship with the woman who was accused of murdering her husband.

Thaw answered the questions in a calm and collected manner. He denied any wrongdoing and claimed that he was innocent of the crime.

CIVIL SERVICE JOB THE ANNIVERSARY

The Mayor Cannot Appoint New City Sealer

Position Was Placed Under Civil Service Laws Last May While Mayor and Aldermen Were at Loggerheads Over It

What's all this talk about firing John W. Stott as sealer of weights and measures?

The mayor and board of aldermen have been at loggerheads over the position of city sealer. The position was placed under civil service laws last May, but the mayor and aldermen were at loggerheads over the appointment of a new sealer.

The mayor, John W. Stott, has offered the position to Alderman Frank W. Stott, suggesting that he resign from the board of aldermen and take the new position.

JOHN W. STOTT

Stott will still hold the position as sealer of weights and measures until a new sealer is appointed. The city is looking for a new sealer to replace John W. Stott.

I now take pleasure in writing a few lines in praise of DR. GRADY'S PURE MALT AND RYE. I have suffered from catarrh and kidney trouble for many years, but I have not received any relief from the best doctors in London, England, until I took two bottles of Dr. Grady's Pure Malt and Rye. I am now feeling much better and I am able to do my work again.

DR. GRADY'S PURE MALT AND RYE is a very good medicine. It is made from pure malt and rye and it is very easy to take. I recommend it to everyone who suffers from catarrh and kidney trouble.

BOARD OF HEALTH EX-CONG. POWERS

Dr. Huntress Investigates Certified and Modified Milk

Believes That Modified Milk Plant in Lowell Properly Conducted Would Cut Down the Mortality From Cholera Infantum

At a meeting of the board of health held yesterday afternoon, Dr. Huntress, chairman, told of his observations in Waltham and Cambridge where he looked into the matter of certified milk, so called. There are two dairies at Waltham that are allowed to bear the name of certified milk farms.

The board of health inspects perfect milk at these farms by first an inspection twice a year of the cows, and if any tubercular signs are seen such a cow is immediately killed, and secondly, an inspection of the dairies. No hay is allowed in the barns, and they are kept thoroughly clean. The cows themselves are washed before milking and sterilized, and the hands of the milkmen are washed and sterilized at the same time. The men wear white suits which are changed every one or two days.

Of course the cost of producing the milk is very high, and the dairymen naturally get a fancy price for their product, but the results of such farms are good. It has been found that the bacteria in milk have been reduced from over 160,000 per cubic centimeter to less than 1200 in some cases and the milk is especially good for invalids.

The board of health of Cambridge produces a milk called "modified milk" which is sold to women who have sickly babies.

It is made on scientific formulae, for the nearest chemical approach to mother's milk. One formula is for children under three months, another for children between three and nine months and the third for children over nine months.

Dr. Huntress believes that if a modified milk station were established in Lowell, the mortality by cholera infantum might be cut down by half.

The board at its meeting yesterday voted to ask the opinion of the city solicitor as to whether the board can elect an inspector of milk before the term of the present milk inspector has expired. This does not mean that the present incumbent of the office of milk inspector, Mr. Melvin Master, is not giving satisfaction, but, in view of a new law recently passed by the legislature putting the office of milk inspector under the control of the board of health, the board wants to know if that department is now under its jurisdiction.

Fisher H. Pearson appeared before the board on behalf of the butchers and grocers of the city requesting that the board make some rules relative to exposure of meats, vegetables and fruit during the hot weather. Mr.

Pearson asked that such articles of food be protected in and be kept at least 15 inches from the ground.

FIREMAN INJURED

While Making Test of Hose Pipe

LAWRENCE, July 31.—Patrick Lyons, a fireman attached to combination 3, met with a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon while engaged in testing new hose. A section of the hose had just been attached to the hydrant, but when the pressure was turned on the coupling broke off and struck Lyons on the head, the water at the same time throwing him across the street to the opposite curb. Lyons, badly cut, bruised and shaken up, was removed to his home in the police ambulance.

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Is Stated for Judge in the New Customs Court

WASHINGTON, July 31.—

Confident that the tariff bill would go through in accordance with his ideas, President Taft has been devoting considerable time recently to the selection of the five judges of the customs court of appeals created by the new act. These selections have all been made by the president and it is said that announcement of the judges will be made next week.

Former Congressman Samuel L. Powers of Boston, it was understood here yesterday, is slated for one of the judgeships. The president wants him as the New England member of the court, having decided when he first took up the selection of the judges that that section was entitled to representation on the court. Mr. Powers has the endorsement of Senators Lodge and Crane, and his selection is pleasing to the Massachusetts delegation in the house.

The appointment to the customs court is one of the choicest gifts within the power of the president to bestow. As a judge Mr. Powers would receive, as will the other customs judges, a salary of $19,000 annually. This is exceeded in the federal judiciary only by the salaries of the judges of the supreme court of the United States. The position will carry with it prestige and social position at the capital it being specified in the tariff act that the court shall sit in Washington.

There is so much work on hand that the mill men cannot see their way clear to close for one week. The Massachusetts, Boot and Merrimack mills will close for carnival week and the Hamilton, it was stated today, will close for the first three days of the week.

The local mills of the Bigelow Carpet company were closed all this week and it is not expected that they will close again on carnival week, though there is said to be a strong sentiment among the operatives to make holidays of the first three days of carnival week.

FIRE IS SPREADING

Every Available Man in Six Villages is Fighting the Flames

BOURNE, July 31.—A fire which started in the Bourne woods shortly before noon today had assumed such proportions at 1 p. m. that every available man in the villages of Pocasset, Cataumet, North Falmouth, Hatchville, Norumet Beach and Buzzards Bay was summoned to fight the flames. Several houses are in the path of the fire and three large and valuable cranberry bogs were in danger of being ruined.

The origin of the fire was somewhat suspicious. The blaze was first discovered about 11 a. m. by Fire Warden Frank Chadwick in a pine growth near the road leading from the village of Pocasset to Forestdale. Within an incredibly short time the blaze had assumed the size of a regular forest fire. A northeast wind sent the flames toward the villages of Pocasset, Cataumet, Hatchville and North Falmouth, and every able-bodied man in the vicinity was pressed into fire fighting service. The fire fighters were seriously handicapped by the fact that there was no road running across the path of the flames where a good stand could be made.

The men were concentrated in the vicinity of the cranberry bogs which were owned by Frank Irwin, Fred Greer and Dave Nye and made a brave struggle to subdue the fire. The smoke was so thick and the flames so hot in the bogs that it was impossible to tell at 1 p. m. what progress the men were making, although it was believed that they would be unable to save the bogs.

The homes of Fred Greer, Dave Nye, Jim West, Mrs. Emma Hardy and Aaron Swift were in the path of the fire, and a great effort was made to save them. In the attempt to save the

Dr. Smith Submits His Annual Report

BIG REDUCTION IN DELIRIUM TREMENS CASES

Number of Consumption Cases Very Large—No Adequate Means of Caring For Them—666 Patients Treated During Year

The annual report of the city physician, Forster H. Smith, came out today. The report is for the year ending December 31, 1908. In his introductory remarks, Dr. Smith says: "As usual the hospitals have been quite full throughout the year. However, a large reduction in the number of delirium tremens cases is noted, there being fifty less cases treated than during the previous year."

"The number of consumption cases is very large, and we still have no adequate means of taking care of those cases properly. The need of a consumptives' hospital in this city is very urgent."

"We still lack the services of another nurse for night duty in the male hospital."

"There were 666 patients treated during the year. Deaths numbered 191, 52 males and 49 females. Twenty children were born during the year, 12 males and 8 females."

"The patients treated came under the following heads:

"General diseases," which includes alcoholism, of which there were 15 cases; "diseases of the circulatory system," including disease of the heart of which there were 37 cases, and apoplexy, 25 cases; "respiratory system," "nervous system," including delirium tremens of which there were eleven cases; "urinary system," "digestive system," and eye, ear, skin and throat."

More than 100 cases received surgical treatment.

The ages of those who died during the year were as follows: Under one year of age, 1; between 1 and 10 years, 1; between 10 and 20 years, none; between 20 and 30 years, 2; between 30 and 40 years, 3; between 40 and 50 years, 13; between 50 and 60 years, 15; between 60 and 70 years, 23; between 70 and 80 years, 14; between 80 and 90 years, 14; over 90 years of age, 1.

The following table gives the ages of those who were treated during the year:

Under 20 years of age, 62; between 20 and 40 years, 130; between 40 and 60 years, 230; between 60 and 80 years, 295; over 80 years of age, 33.

COURT HEARING

On Police Board Removal to be Held Aug. 9

The hearing for review of charges against the police board recently removed by Mayor Brown will not be held on Monday as had been planned, but one week from Monday, according to a letter received by City Solicitor Duncan, a time for a hearing on the merits will be set.

The following is a copy of the letter received by Mr. Duncan from the clerk of the superior civil court:

Clerk of Court, Superior Civil Court, Suffolk County, Boston, Mass., July 30, 1909.

W. W. Duncan, Esquire, 45 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Mr. Duncan: The matter of the petition of the members of the board of police of Lowell for revision of charges and revocation of order removing them from office will not be heard until a week from Monday on the question of the time when a hearing on the merits will be given, since Judge Dana will not be in Boston until Monday, August 2nd.

Very truly yours,
Henry E. Bellow, Asst. Clerk.

OSAKA ON FIRE

Many Persons Killed and Buddhist Temple Destroyed

OSAKA, Japan, July 31.—A fire which threatens to destroy this city started at four o'clock this morning and in spite of the most energetic efforts to check it, it is still burning. The firemen who have been fighting all day are completely exhausted and troops have been called out to assist in fighting the flames and to preserve order in the city. Everything is dry on account of the drought and the water supply is failing. The fire is being fanned by a strong breeze and thousands of buildings, including the world famous Buddhist temple, have already been destroyed. The total loss will be large. A number have been killed and seriously injured by the fire.

Osaka is one of three "imperial cities" of Japan and is one of the most important manufacturing and commercial cities of the empire. It shelters almost three quarters of a million people.

The Buddhist temple for which the city is famous among travellers covers an enormous area. The chief public building of Osaka is the palace built of stone in 1853.

BROCKTON LEADS

In the First Game With Lowell This Afternoon

There were about two thousand fans at Spalding park this afternoon to witness the double header between Brockton and Lowell. The lineup of the teams was practically the same as yesterday, the exception being in the batteries. Junger, the Panama player, was on the slab for the home team, while Boyle was behind the bat. For the visitors Cutting was doing the twirling while Shea was on the receiving end of the battery.

Umpire McLaughlin was the decision maker and called the game at two o'clock sharp, the batting order of the teams being as follows:

LOWELL
Venable, 2b; Fitzpatrick, 2b; Pluharty, 1b; Danzig, 1b; McKeown, 3b; McGovern, 2b; Hickman, 1b; Boyle, c; Junger, p.

BROCKTON
Shannon, ss; Shannon, 2b; Donovan, 1b; McGovern, 3b; McGovern, 2b; Hickman, 1b; Boyle, c; Junger, p.

First Inning
Neither side scored in the first inning. Shannon opened with a strike out and McLane was out. While to McGovern, Donovan singled, but McGovern went out on a fly to Howard.

In the latter half of the inning Venable bled to Shannon, Fitzpatrick fouled to Shea and Pluharty struck out. Score—Lowell 0, Brockton 0.

Second Inning
The visitors sent two men across the plate in the second but no such luck for Lowell. Hickman died to Howard and Shannon followed with a free pass and stole second. McGovern got a lucky single by second base and Shannon scored. McGovern went to second on the throw home. Shea hit to Danzig and was out but McGovern managed to get to third on the put out. Cutting got a Texas leaguer and McGovern scored. Shannon hit to Willie and was out at first.

Danzig and Howard got singles in the latter half of the inning. Willie then came to bat and instead of hitting or making a sacrifice knocked a fly to McLane. Walters struck out and Boyle fouled to McGovern.

Score—Brockton 2, Lowell 0.

Third Inning
The visitors got two more runs in the third inning. McLane starting the hitting by sending the ball out to the left field fence for a two banger. Donovan bunted and Junger had a chance to throw Donovan out at third but he got rattled when the Brockton players started to shout at him and he sent the ball to first. Murch then singled and McLane scored from third. Hickman hit to Venable who threw Donovan out at the plate. Hickman and Murch tried a double steal and Murch was thrown out. Shannon singled and Hickman scored. McGovern died to Junger.

In Lowell's half Junger opened with a single. Venable hit to Shannon who threw to second and the ball was returned to first for a double play. Fitz hit to Murch and was out at first. Score—Brockton 4, Lowell 0.

Fourth Inning
Junger settled down in the fourth inning. Shannon opened with a single, Cutting got three strikes, Boyle dropping the last strike. At about the same time Shea started for second and Boyle nailed him while the ball was sent to first for a double. Shannon struck out.

Fitzharry hit a hot one to Cutting and was retired at first. Danzig followed with a base on balls, but Howard and Danzig were retired. Murch was forced on Willie's hit to Shannon. Score—Brockton 4, Lowell 0.

Fifth Inning
There was no scoring in the fifth inning. McLane died to Willie and Donovan fouled to Boyle. Murch drew a base on balls but he got no further, for Hickman hit to Willie and was out at first.

Lowell got the bases filled in the last

WHO KNOWS HIM?

Unknown Man Killed on B. & M. Tracks

The body of an unknown man, badly mangled, was found lying on the Boston and Maine tracks between the Lombard street bridge and the old Beacon street station. The body was found about 2 o'clock in the morning by Boss Shifter Edward O'Brien, who expressed the opinion that the unfortunate must have met his death between 9 o'clock at night and the time his body was discovered. Evidently he was riding a freight, and fell off. The police were notified and the remains were removed by Undertaker John A. Flanagan to his rooms at Davis Square where it awaits identification.

The body was that of a man between 40 and 45 years of age, five feet, six inches in height, light complexion with pointed chin, gray eyes, high forehead, inclined to baldness with dark brown hair, slightly tinged with gray and dark brown mustache. There were three teeth missing from the upper set and only one tooth in the lower. The body will weigh about 150 pounds and is clothed in heavy fleece lined underwear, black pants striped with gray, with blue overalls rolled up almost to the knees. Black vest, white necktie and white shirt with gray and blue pencil stripes, double breasted blue coat, gray socks and blucher brogans cut at the top, a blue slouch hat, 1 1/4 size, 9 shoes and an old fashioned belt around the waist. In the clothing were a couple of combs, a lead pencil and some gauze and cotton. The man is supposed to have been an employee of a foundry or a fireman in a mill.

OFFICIAL RECORD

Thermometer Reached High Mark Yesterday

While everybody agreed that yesterday was the hottest day of the season there was a great difference of opinion as to how hot it really was. Some of the high marks were taken from thermometers which were wholly or partly exposed to the sun, but the reading of those thermometers could not be called the average temperature.

What is probably the only official thermometer in the city is owned by the Locks & Canals Company and is located in their yard in Broadway. This thermometer is thoroughly tested from time to time, is at the official height from the ground, six feet, in a shady place where there is a breeze and located between two doorways.

This thermometer at 2:05 o'clock yesterday afternoon registered 88.5, the highest point reached this year which also marked yesterday the hottest July 30th on record.

The observations were made by three of the employees of the Locks & Canals Co., who noted the rise of the mercury from 1.45 to 2.05 p. m. At 1.45 the glass showed 94 degrees and climbed from that point to 96 and then to 98.5. A thermometer which was exposed to the sun in the same yard registered 115 degrees.

SOLEMN REQUIEM

For Rev. Fr. Ronan at St. Peter's Today

At St. Peter's church this morning at 9 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem, (a month's mind) was offered for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. Michael Ronan, the late pastor of St. Peter's who died July 3. There was a very large congregation present including a number from other parishes throughout the city. Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan was celebrant of the mass, Rev. John E. Burns, Canon, Rev. John T. O'Brien, sub-deacon, Rev. Fr. Donigan of the Conception church, a relative of Rev. Fr. Ronan was master of ceremonies. Within the sanctuary were seated Rev. W. George Mulvan, Rev. Peter Ronan, rector of St. Peter's church, Meeting House Hill, Dorchester, a brother of the deceased clergyman, Rev. Michael Dorsey, curate at St. Peter's church, Dorchester, and Rev. John M. McHenry, O. M. I., pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, this city. The regular choir under the direction of Prof. P. P. Haggerty rendered the impressive Gregorian chant, Mrs. J. W. McKennedy, presided at the organ.

ARMY CONTRACT

Awarded to the Massachusetts Mills

BOSTON, July 31.—The government contract for $25,000 yards of olive drab cotton cloth for the army has been awarded to Sheppard, Hogg & Co. of this city, representing the Massachusetts Cotton Mills Co. according to an announcement made today by Captain Robert Rolfe, U. S. A., of the quartermaster's department. The Massachusetts Mills Co.'s mills are at Lowell. The bids were opened in Boston last spring was delayed pending an investigation by the war department of allegations made by John H. Meyer of New York that this grade of cloth, which has previously been purchased abroad could not be manufactured in the United States. The department satisfied that American mills were able to produce the cloth accepted the Massachusetts Company's bid of 25 cents per yard.

CATHOLIC CEMETERY

TO BE CONDUCTED UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

It is understood that St. Patrick's cemetery will be conducted under a new policy and new management after next Monday, and that henceforth the business of the cemetery will be done under the direction of the archbishop instead of Rev. Michael O'Brien, D. D. of this city. As Fr. O'Brien is out of the city, it was impossible today to verify the report, but the change it is understood has been made at his request.

SEEKS IMMUNITY

SUGAR TRUST MAN HAS MADE A PLEA

NEW YORK, July 31.—Gustav E. Kissel, the broker who acted as intermediary between John E. Parsons and Adolph Segal in the loan of $2,500,000 made by the American Sugar Refining company to the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, withdrew his tentative plea of "not guilty" in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court yesterday.

For his part in the deal, which resulted in the closing of the Philadelphia refinery and the suit for treble damages amounting to $30,000,000, Kissel was indicted.

Through his counsel, William D. Gurley, he appeared before Judge Hand yesterday.

Special pleas were then made in Kissel's interest, one being based on the allegation that the alleged offense charged in the indictment filed July 1, last were not committed within the three years prescribed by the statute of limitation, and in the other the broker claimed he was entitled to immunity because at the trial of the suit of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company against the American Sugar Refining company he appeared as a witness and produced important documentary evidence.

6 O'CLOCK KILLED TWO MEN

Blind Negro Shot Up a Saloon in Paterson, New Jersey

PATERSON, N. J., July 31.—A blind negro angered by the bartender's refusal to serve him more liquor pulled out two revolvers today and emptied them in a crowded saloon killing two men and seriously wounding a third. William F. Sasson is the man under arrest on two charges of murder.

In spite of Sasson's blindness the police say he is the terror of the shore district where he is known as "the devil." Early today, they say, he entered Henry Regan's saloon accompanied by two negroes. All had been drinking heavily, and when they ordered more the bartender told them they had had enough. Sasson, witnesses say, shouted, "We'll see if we can have drink or not," then backed to the door and drew a revolver in each hand.

From these he fired nine shots before the place was cleared. Robert Ferguson, one of the men who entered with Sasson died 15 minutes later with a ball in his side. Charles Huguenel, white, died at the hospital from a shot in the abdomen. Joseph Geiger, also white, had his jaw and his right arm shattered and is now in a critical condition. Sasson fled but was captured.

$100,000 FOUND IN HOUSE

FORT PLAINS, N. Y., July 31.—More than $100,000 in bonds, bank notes and gold has been found hidden in the house of Elizabeth Dietenhorst, the eccentric maiden reclus who died here last Saturday, leaving an estate estimated to be worth $1,000,000. The rear yard is to be ploughed and the house torn down if further search promises returns.

Many of the bonds found has run to maturity. They were found under loose boards, tucked beneath carpets and sewed into the lining of dresses that had not been worn for years.

One that was in a bonnet, fashionable before the Civil war. Some of the bank notes, notwithstanding their age, were as clean as on the day when they were first issued.

SENATE CROWDED

Over $600,000 Added to the Urgency Deficiency Bill

WASHINGTON, July 31.—There was a large attendance in the senate today when the urgency deficiency bill was taken. Over $600,000 had been added to the bill by amendments made to the senate committee and these first were considered.

No objection was made to an appropriation of $100,000 to defray the necessary expenses in connection with foreign trade relations and to maintain the division of Far Eastern affairs in the state department. Secretary Knox had

FEROCIOUS DRAMA

Being Enacted in Barcelona, According to Report

PARIS, July 31.—Although all the direct despatches received from Madrid which pass through the hands of the censor agree that General Brando, the military commander at Barcelona, has ruthlessly crushed the revolt there, according to many reports, the situation reports filtering out from the French frontier at Perpignan none of which, however, were later than July 19 intimated that the mob had the upper hand and nothing in history with the exception of the ferocious drama being enacted.

In the tales brought out from Spain much remains obscure but all the reports agree that the movement was skillfully organized and broke like a bolt from a clear sky. Three facts stand out prominently. First the troops in the earliest stages refused to fire on the mob, either because they were numerically inferior or because they were in sympathy with the mob. Second, the movement was distinctly revolutionary and anti-clerical and third the fury of the mob was vented almost entirely against the church and its representatives, private property being generally spared. Eye witnesses saw the troops while guarding and fighting the police and the civil guard and the cities were "Down with the government," "Down with the king," "Long live the republic."

The stories of the ferocity of the mob toward church property and the monks, nuns and nuns are incredible. The monks who could not escape through the subterranean passages in the monasteries were beaten and killed. The nuns fleeing from the burning convent were driven half naked through the streets and the priests, it is reported, were shot at the steps of the altar. It is even stated that nuns were carried on poles through the streets by ten thousand people and that the captain general was helpless to interfere. The many reports agree that the revolutionary committee directed everything. Notwithstanding this anti-clerical ferocity other reports intimate that the clergy still stand for clerical reaction. Spain is a hand in the organizing of the uprising.

ENTIRE ARMY IS BEING PLACED ON A WAR FOOTING

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, via French Frontier, July 31.—The entire army is being placed on a war footing. The recruits and the reserves of every class have been called out. IN BARCELONA THE SITUATION IS SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

PARIS, July 31.—Special despatches from Barcelona say the situation there continues to improve. The troops have dispersed rioters, who were seeking to relight the fires of the convents. The barricades near Sarlat hospital, a strong revolutionary rallying point, have been leveled by cannon. Eight thousand men have arrived to reinforce the Barcelona garrison.

The French consul at Port Bou, a village on the Mediterranean sea, immediately south of the French boundary, reports that the railroad service has been resumed between Port Bou and Gerona, but that communication to Barcelona is still out.

GEN'L MARINA SAYS HE CAN HOLD HIS POSITION

PARIS, July 31.—The Matin's correspondent, who has just arrived at Melilla, Morocco, telegraphs that Gen. Marina, commander of the Spanish forces on the Rif coast, says he can easily hold his position until the arrival of reinforcements when he again will take the offensive. The correspondent says that the Spanish force is composed of 17,500 men, which will be brought up to 25,000 when Gen. Penarro's brigade arrives. He declares it is impossible to even estimate the losses sustained by the Spaniards in the big battle of July 27, as the dead were not identified and were buried in common trenches on the field. About 300 wounded men were counted as they were being brought to Melilla on stretchers. Many soldiers were reported "missing." Out of one company composed of 300 men, only 23 reported after the battle.

The correspondent was struck by the apparent indifference of the people of Melilla. Gen. Marina did not attend the funeral of Pinos, whose body was found to the grave by less than 100 persons.

ADMIT 11 FORGERIES

Grace Maidhof and Her Accomplice Announce They Will Wed

NEWPORT, R. I., July 31.—Grace Maidhof, the mysterious young woman held in the West Fifty-fourth street prison as the result of numerous complaints charging her with forgery, confessed yesterday that she had uttered at least 11 worthless checks in Manhattan, and implicated John H. Freese, the lawyer who first came to her rescue, and Ralph H. S. Whitney, a quondam inspector of elections, who declared he had accompanied President Taft to Panama as his private secretary.

A strange feature of the affair is that despite the fact the girl betrayed Whitney and caused his arrest she asked Magistrate Street in the West Side police court, where the trio was arraigned, if he would marry them. He declined on the ground that the girl had posed as a married woman, and feared further complications. He then held the couple in $2500 bail each, and the lawyer in $5000, telling the young woman that she might find a minister who would perform the ceremony in jail.

Freese, a Harvard graduate, was sent to a cell, while Whitney and the Maidhof girl were taken to the district attorney's office, where they signed a joint confession.

They acknowledged having passed 11 worthless checks. Eight of these, said, were drawn by Freese, while Whitney's drew but three. The girl passed them off in West Side stores and at Broadway hotels.

Whitney was exceedingly nervous, and said that he wanted to enter on his prison term as quickly as possible. "Don't be foolish," interrupted the woman, smiling. "We might not go to prison at all. This whole thing is up to Freese."

Freese, in his cell, declared that he had been the victim of a band of black mailers.

When the trio was arraigned before Magistrate Street, Freese fought hard to have his bail reduced, but Assistant District Attorney Rice said it would not be advisable, as the charges against him were so grave he would probably leave the jurisdiction of the court. The girl and Whitney waived examination.

Miss Julia Savage, a cashier at the Holland house, appeared at the prosecutor's office with a bad check for $55 which she said Mrs. Maidhof had turned over to her.

Frank J. Maidhof also called to see Mr. Rice. He said that the woman had taken his name in San Francisco several years ago and that she had caused him so much annoyance he lost his $7500 position and had not been able since then to get another similar one.

Mrs. Lloyd O. Gitchell of 220 West 90th street made a complaint against the man. She said that Whitney had introduced himself to her as a lawyer and had written to her business letters with headings "R. H. S. Whitney & Co., Attorneys at Law." He introduced her later to Freese, to whom she introduced two cases. She claims now that both men owe her money.

SPANISH AMBASSADOR LEAVES

PARIS, July 31.—A special despatch received here from Biarritz says that Marquis Del Muni, the Spanish ambassador to France, today suddenly left that city for Paris. No reason is given for his hurried departure.

ARRESTED IN NEWARK

NEWARK, N. J., July 31.—Mrs. Charles Eastman of Manchester, N. H., and Fred Bowen of the same city, who left there in May last, were both arrested today. Bowen was working as a window cleaner in this city and Mrs. Eastman was employed as a saleswoman in a local store up to a few days ago but was arrested in Patterson. Mrs. Eastman's seven-year-old daughter Doris was with her. Mrs. Eastman and Bowen will be held here pending the arrival of Mrs. Eastman's husband from Manchester.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Not Sincere in Position On Tariff Revision Says Underwood

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Convention at ten o'clock the house today began consideration of the conference report on the tariff. At the very outset Chairman Payne met with obstruction at the hands of a republican insurgent, Mr. Mondell, (Wyo.) who refused unanimous consent for the reading of the statement of the conference in lieu of the report.

Mr. Payne made no effort to get Mr. Mondell to reconsider his action and the reading of the voluminous reports was delayed. At lowest estimate the reading was expected to consume two and a half hours' time.

The reading had proceeded one hour and twenty minutes when Mr. Payne again asked unanimous consent that it be dispensed with. Although Mr. Mondell was in the minority, he made no further objection and much to the relief of every one the monotonous tones of the reading clerk's ceased.

Immediately thereafter Mr. Dalzell from the committee on rules presented a resolution providing that no provision in the bill should be subject to a point of order and that general debate should continue not later than 8 o'clock tonight whereupon the conference report should be voted upon.

In explanation of the rule regarding points of order Mr. Dalzell said that it was made necessary by the action of the conferees in creating entirely new rates on leather and leather goods.

Answering a query by Mr. Clark, Mr. Dalzell declared that there was no higher than the maximum rate in either the house or senate bill on the same item.

Mr. Dalzell urged the adoption of and a near view of the spire would immediately show the fact.

The apparition, supposed to be the figure of a statue, was seen in the little arched window over the belfry facing Cross street. There are eight of these windows, one in front, facing Suffolk street, another facing Adams street and three on either side. Each window is framed with ornamental copper work. When the sun shines through any two of these windows in the same line the second shows an illuminated figure. Then each window is cased with copper which shines under the sun like a halo, while it casts a shadow on the window with the pinnacles that might appear to some to resemble the shadow of a small standing figure. As the sun strikes the window in question at this particular angle only for a short period in the morning the illusion is visible of course the conditions noted by the Mohair employees appeared only about the same time for the few days that the sun was in practically the same position. Hence with a good healthy imagination one might be excused for thinking he or she saw something out of the ordinary. People living in the vicinity who have heard of the apparition have been cracking their necks the past few days for a look, but have seen nothing more startling than a shadow on the little window.

LARGEST STEERAGE LIST

A BEAUTIFUL GAME

Simmy Murch's Home Run in the Ninth Won the Day

In one of the prettiest games seen at Spaulding park in a long time, Lowell lost to Brockton by the score of 10 to 9, Simmy Murch making a home run in the ninth inning, and such a home run it was. The ball was hit deep into the outfield and a fast return of the ball beat it around for a home run within the grounds. The fans all agreed that while Lowell lost, it was a rare exhibition of baseball and they were perfectly satisfied even if the home team did lose.

BOARD OF HEALTH EX-CONG. POWERS

Dr. Huntress Investigates Certified and Modified Milk Is Stated for Judge in the New Customs Court

Believes That Modified Milk Plant in Lowell Properly Conducted Would Cut Down the Mortality From Cholera Infantum

At a meeting of the board of health held yesterday afternoon, Dr. Huntress, chairman, told of his observations in Waltham and Cambridge where he looked into the matter of certified milk, so called. There are two dairies at Waltham that are allowed to bear the name of certified milk.

The board of health insures perfect milk at these farms by first an inspection twice a year of the cows, and if any tubercular signs are seen such a cow is immediately killed, and secondly, an inspection of the dairies. No hay is allowed in the barns, and they are kept thoroughly clean. The cows themselves are washed before milking, and the hands of the dairymen are washed and sterilized at the same time. The men wear white suits which are changed every one or two days.

Of course the cost of producing the milk is very high, and the dairymen naturally get a fancy price for their product, but the results of such farms are good. It has been found that the bacteria in milk have been reduced from over 100,000 per cubic centimeter to less than 1000 per cubic centimeter, and the milk is especially good for infants.

The board of health of Cambridge produces a milk called "modified milk" which is sold to women who have sickly babies.

It is made on scientific formulae, for the nearest chemical approach to mother's milk. One formula is for children under three months, another for children between three and nine months and the third for children over nine months.

Dr. Huntress believes that if a modified milk station were established in Lowell, the mortality by cholera infantum might be cut down by half.

The board at its meeting yesterday voted to ask the opinion of the city solicitor as to whether the board can elect an inspector of milk before the term of the present milk inspector has expired. This does not mean that the present incumbent of the office of milk inspector, Mr. Melvin Master, is not giving satisfaction, but, in view of a new law recently passed by the legislature putting the control of the board of health, the board wants to know if that department is now under its jurisdiction.

Fisher H. Pearson appeared before the board on behalf of the butchers and grocers of the city requesting that the board make some rules relative to exposure of meats, vegetables and fruit during the hot weather. Mr.

Pearson asked that such articles of food be aerated in and be kept at least 15 inches from the ground.

FIREMAN INJURED

While Making Test of Hose Pipe

LAWRENCE, July 31.—Patrick Lyons, a fireman attached to company 9, met with a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon while engaged in testing new hose. A section of the hose had just been attached to the hydrant, but when the pressure was turned on the coupling broke off and struck Lyons on the head, the water at the same time throwing him across the street to the opposite curb. Lyons, badly cut, bruised and shaken up, was removed to his home in the police ambulance.

THE AUTO CARNIVAL BOOMING.

The arrangements for the great auto carnival go booming along. Every day brings some fresh proof that the carnival is to be an unprecedented success. The Boston and Maine is to construct a temporary depot and side tracks for trains at the end of the pontoon bridge to be constructed across the Merrimack opposite the grandstand. It is estimated that 1,000,000 people will visit Lowell during carnival week.

VINDICATION FOR THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The democratic party has been emphatically vindicated by the action of the republican congress in voting for a constitutional amendment providing for an income tax while at the same time President Taft it was provided that a tax should be levied on the net profits of corporations. These matters were well covered in the democratic platform of 1908 by the following plank:

"We favor an income tax as part of our revenue system, and we urge the submission of a constitutional amendment specifically authorizing congress to levy and collect tax upon individual and corporate incomes, to the end that wealth may bear its proportionate share of the burdens of the federal government."

The reasons to be offered in support of an income tax are so imperative that the citizens of every state should be glad of the opportunity to assist in securing such an amendment.

In time of war the government can draft the husband from the wife, the son from his mother, the father from his children and place them on the firing line but in no emergency can the government draw upon the rich man's wealth to meet the expenses of war. If the man who has no money has to give his life for his country in time of war why should not the man of wealth who undertakes no risk be compelled to pay a reasonable proportion of the expense of carrying on the war? It is necessary that wealth should bear its share of the burdens of the war. The poor man pays with his blood or his life. Why not the rich man, who refuses to fight, with his gold?

WHY ELECTIONS DO NOT REFLECT THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE.

The question whether universal suffrage gives effect to the will of the people in this country is open to grave doubt, but if it does not the people themselves are to blame, for in the secrecy of the ballot box they are free to vote as they please regardless of all outside influences. But unfortunately there are influences that prevent men from voting as they wish, and this is the chief thing that operates against the success of universal suffrage in reflecting the will of the people.

The chief causes for this state of affairs may be classed under three heads: First, the manner in which campaign orators take advantage of the unfamiliarity of some voters with political issues and the needs of the country. Second, the use of money by politicians and political parties to buy votes and influence elections. Third, coercion or intimidation by the management of certain interests or certain factories.

It is no reflection upon our voting population to say that a portion of them is unfamiliar with political issues and with the needs of the country. When eminent men disagree on public questions it is no wonder that the average voter is perplexed as to the merits of political controversies. When these people hear contradictory and misleading statements from campaign orators they become confused and decide to preserve the existing order of things rather than fly to things they know not of or to things which they are told with all the striking emphasis of the stump orator will assuredly bring disaster.

This is one reason why it is so difficult to dislodge a political party once it is entrenched in power. In addition to this evil the voters are often confronted with the free use of money for the corruption of the ballot.

In the last presidential contest the democratic party resorted to the expedient of publishing all campaign contributions before the election as a guarantee that no corrupt methods were used, that there was no unreasonable sum expended in the campaign and a proof that there was no such thing as a general attempt to bribe voters, a practice that has been resorted to in close states.

The republican party, however, refused to assent to publicity before the election, promising to publish all contributions after the election when the evils that publicity was intended to prevent were accomplished.

Several national causes are well remembered in which the corporate interests of the country poured large sums of money into the treasury of the republican national committee to be used where it would do the most good which meant in close contests, principally in the close states. We do not hold the democratic party entirely blameless from this charge, but not being identified with the corporate interests it could not spend much money for this purpose even if it were so disposed. None of the political parties are without their faults, none entirely free from corruption; but it happens that as a national organization the republican party controls vast financial interests upon which it can rely in election times for whatever money it needs.

Ex-President Roosevelt when in office did what he could to cut off the contributions from the trusts as compromising the party but it is doubtful if his policy will be followed by the party in the future. The third cause which undermines the will of the people in national elections is the intimidation of voters. When the management of some big factory announces that unless the candidates of a particular party be elected the factory will shut down, that is not a short of intimidation, for it threatens a whole class of employees with loss of the means of earning a livelihood.

When on the other hand it is rumored that if the candidates of a certain party be elected a factory then will be put a species of coercion is practiced that interferes with the free exercise of the franchise and tends to prevent the employees of that factory from voting according to their convictions.

It is the operation of these various causes that prevents our elections from reflecting accurately the will of the people which it would do but for the influence of the free use of money, coercion and intimidation.

The fact that it is so difficult to prevent the popular will from being swayed and there is no system where with our system but the voters believe their conviction of right in the exercise of the franchise they will get what they want without resorting to radical measures by which both the present great parties would be overthrown to give way to a new and untried system that might be far more disappointing than that which it would displace.

SEEN AND HEARD

Your request for information relative to an ice blockade in Boston harbor received. No truth to the report.

PEOPLE OF NOTE.

Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd of Amherst, who is so widely known as a writer and speaker, is to have a prominent part in the coming 150th anniversary of the town of Amherst, simultaneously with the 25th anniversary of her neighbor, Hadley. The Mary Matton chapter, D. A. R., and Amherst Historical society will unite in participation in the anniversary exercises on Aug. 2, "Amherst day." In the afternoon a bronze tablet set in a location in honor of Gen. Ebenezer Matton of revolutionary fame will be unveiled and dedicated. Mrs. Todd, as honorary agent of the Matton chapter, will present the memorial to the town and the speech of acceptance will be made by Rev. C. S. Walker. Other exercises are planned, followed by a lawn party at the headquarters of the Historical society, in the afternoon. All orders promptly attended to at any hour of day or night. Conducted by telephone.

As a memorial to his son Oscar, who died recently, Baron Albert de Rothschild, of Vienna, gave to the French community of that city 10,000 francs and a life annuity to the municipality of the same amount for the purpose of supporting charitable work. He gave also 200,000 francs for educational purposes, in the departments of mathematics and astronomy, saving in the memorandum which accompanied the amount that these branches had been neglected because the late Oscar de Rothschild had always taken a deep interest in them.

J. S. Maddox has been elected manager of the co-operative store at the University of Missouri. He succeeds Elmer Garry, who resigned to start a retail store just off the campus. Mr. Maddox was graduated at the University of Missouri in 1900 and started the co-operative store. He has stated several co-operative stores in other universities. The store has a stock of $120,000 worth of goods and last year $50,000 worth of goods were sold. The board of curators of the university has limited its sales to students supplies. The store occupies a handsome room in the academic hall and pays a rental of $500 a year.

Swimburne detested the practice of smoking. It is said that one day at the Arts club, after going from room to room in the vain hope of finding a clear atmosphere to write in, he exclaimed: "James I was a knave, a tyrant, a fool, a liar, a coward. But I love him, I worship him, because he sits the throne of that blackguard Raleigh, who invented this filthy smoking."

Dr. Edith Hale Smith, a graduate of Radcliffe college and of Johns Hopkins university, has spent the past two years assisting in the Berlin hospital, specializing in gynecology and children's diseases. She will practice in Berlin throughout the coming year, working professionally with her husband, Dr. Walter Smith, a graduate of Harvard and president of the Anglo-American Medical association in Berlin.

When Sir Caspar Pardon Clarke, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, went abroad on May 15 he was suffering from gout, and since then he has developed a stubborn case of bronchitis. He was to return to New York on Aug. 1, but J. Pierpont Morgan, president of the board of trustees of the museum, had Sir Caspar's vacation extended to Aug. 1, 1910. This action has led some of the New York newspaper writers to believe that Sir Caspar may never return to his post. They point out that his contract with the museum will expire about the time that his long vacation ends, and they hint that before that time comes a pension of $5000 a year will be voted to him. According to the Mail, during Sir Caspar's directorship the trustees of the museum have been somewhat divided over his policy. "One faction believed that the museum was not developing rapidly, and that the schools of painting, where the finer system of study and feeling were expressed were neglected." The director "has even been accused of indifference to the works of Millet and Corot and of other artists of the Barbizon school." In this point of view will be remembered that the director's own pictures are about his own personal choice in regard to the pictures in the museums have been the subject of no little sarcastic comment. As a matter of fact, however, the director is not the man whose judgment determines the purchase or sale of the pictures, so that his personal views on pictures have no official bearing. There can be no doubt whatever, it is said, that under Sir Caspar Pardon Clarke's administration the Metropolitan Museum it has made immense progress, and in no direction has it gained more than in the purchase of the pictures. The relations between the museum and the public have never been so close and cordial as now. Sir Caspar has had much to do with this, for he has been extremely democratic. He is 62 years old.

Mrs. E. B. Stacy of Tyson, Vt., is satisfied she possesses the champion American hen. The prize of her laryard lays eggs weighing on an average a little more than a quarter of a pound. The largest egg so far is six and one-half inches long and seven and one-half inches in circumference. Mrs. Stacy has refused an offer of $500 for the hen.

Charles S. Smith, residing at Friend-ville, Va., reports the ages and weights of the different members of his family as follows: A. T. Smith, 48, 245 pounds; Mrs. A. T. The women district nurses of New York are making special efforts this summer to lower the infant death rate. When a certificate of birth is filed by a midwife with the board of health showing that no doctor was in attendance, that department notes the fact and on the same day sends to each district nurse the names and addresses of all such cases in her district. The nurse then makes an investigation to see if the mother is properly fed, if the family can give the mother and child good care, and if the sanitary conditions are all that they should be.

The nurse always carries tickets for free milk and free ice with her. If the mother needs food the nurse includes this fact in her report and sees that she gets it. If either mother or baby needs a physician the nurse sees that one is provided. There are fifty-six district nurses in New York.

Miss Lucile Wilson, whose offer from the Japanese government to teach kindergarten in the Japanese schools has brought her in prominence as perhaps the youngest lady in America to have received a notable offer from a foreign power. She is a native of Mason City, graduated in the High school last year, and now at the age of eighteen, after a part of a year at the State Normal, has won honors of a high order and special mention from her instructors. If she goes to Japan, which she now expects to do, the contract will extend for three years, during which time she cannot return to her own country though may have an opportunity to visit other countries.

The New York Herald says it is believed that Robert C. The election will not be held until January. Mr. Ogden is now acting president.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Goulden of New York think that they owe their lives to a pit dog that warned them of the presence of a big rattler in a tent in which they were sleeping at Lone Eddy. Mr. Goulden was able to reach his wife without getting up, and he shot the snake, which was five feet long and had eight rattles.

Nearly 2000 students are registered for the summer session of Columbia university and this is said to be a record-breaking number for American universities. Nearly all these students—1550 of them—are up on Mount Mansfield Heights and 21 are at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Nearly every state and territory, Canada and Nova Scotia and many foreign countries are represented. Many school superintendents and teachers are studying at Columbia this summer. The superintendent of schools of Panama and some of its teachers are offered this year. One is in theology, and another, in charge of Professor Winter of Harvard is in public speaking.

Mrs. Roberta Ware has founded a dairy school at Highland lake, North, Mass. For the last five years Mrs. Ware has run a model dairy at Highland lake and this school is for the purpose of teaching her methods. The course is for six weeks and includes the study of soils, feed, cows, the arrangement and requirement of dairies, the weighing, testing, bottling and transportation of milk, following the milk to market and the study of the consumers' facility for keeping it. Each pupil is required to attend the steam boiler, the sterilizer, the butter and cheese making, the operation of work. Among the pupils enrolled were Miss Mary McDonald, teacher of domestic science in the School of Domestic Science, Boston, and Mrs. Margaret Stannard, a teacher in the Garland kindergarten school.

Miss Mary E. Richmond of Philadelphia has been called to take charge of the Charity Organization Extension movement of the Sage Foundation. Miss Richmond had been on the advisory board of the movement since it began one and a half years ago at the National Conference of Charities and Correction in Portland, Ore. Early in the fall she will become the head of the work, taking entire charge. For the last eight years Miss Richmond has been general secretary of the Charity Organization of Philadelphia and previous to that time she was secretary of a similar society in Baltimore which she organized.

As a memorial to his son Oscar, who died recently, Baron Albert de Rothschild, of Vienna, gave to the French community of that city 10,000 francs and a life annuity to the municipality of the same amount for the purpose of supporting charitable work. He gave also 200,000 francs for educational purposes, in the departments of mathematics and astronomy, saving in the memorandum which accompanied the amount that these branches had been neglected because the late Oscar de Rothschild had always taken a deep interest in them.

J. S. Maddox has been elected manager of the co-operative store at the University of Missouri. He succeeds Elmer Garry, who resigned to start a retail store just off the campus. Mr. Maddox was graduated at the University of Missouri in 1900 and started the co-operative store. He has stated several co-operative stores in other universities. The store has a stock of $120,000 worth of goods and last year $50,000 worth of goods were sold. The board of curators of the university has limited its sales to students supplies. The store occupies a handsome room in the academic hall and pays a rental of $500 a year.

Swimburne detested the practice of smoking. It is said that one day at the Arts club, after going from room to room in the vain hope of finding a clear atmosphere to write in, he ex-

When Sir Caspar Pardon Clarke, director of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, went abroad on May 15 he was suffering from gout, and since then he has developed a stubborn case of bronchitis. He was to return to New York on Aug. 1, but J. Pierpont Morgan, president of the board of trustees of the museum, had Sir Caspar's vacation extended to Aug. 1, 1910. This action has led some of the New York newspaper writers to believe that Sir Caspar may never return to his post. They point out that his contract with the museum will expire about the time that his long vacation ends, and they hint that before that time comes a pension of $5000 a year will be voted to him. According to the Mail, during Sir Caspar's directorship the trustees of the museum have been somewhat divided over his policy. "One faction believed that the museum was not developing rapidly, and that the schools of painting, where the finer system of study and feeling were expressed were neglected." The director "has even been accused of indifference to the works of Millet and Corot and of other artists of the Barbizon school." In this point of view will be remembered that the director's own pictures are about his own personal choice in regard to the pictures in the museums have been the subject of no little sarcastic comment. As a matter of fact, however, the director is not the man whose judgment determines the purchase or sale of the pictures, so that his personal views on pictures have no official bearing. WRIGHT'S FLIGHT FOUR GIRLS DROWNED

He Made 42 Miles an Hour in His Aeroplane

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Orville Wright last evening attained the zenith of hard earned success. In a ten-mile cross country flight in his aeroplane, accompanied by Lieut. Benjamin D. Foulois, an intrepid officer of the army signal corps, he not only surpassed the speed requirements of his contract with the United States government, but accomplished one of the most difficult and daring flights ever planned for a heavier-than-air flying machine. Incidentally, he broke all speed records over a measured course.

Wright's speed was more than 42 miles an hour. He made the ten mile flight in 14 minutes and 22 seconds, including the 26 seconds or more required for the turn beyond the line at Shuter Hill, the southern end of the course. He attained a height of nearly 500 feet in crossing the valley of Four Mile Run and the average altitude of his course was about 200 feet.

President Taft arrived upon the parade ground at Fort Myer just in time to see the aeroplane land and to participate in the wild demonstration which culminated the triumphant victory. He sent Col. Treadwell, commanding officer of the artillery at Fort Myer, to bear his congratulations to the victor.

The weather conditions were auspicious when Orville Wright had the machine placed on the starting rail and gave the motor a final test. The signal corps men noisied the great weight in the startingerrick which gives the machine its initial impetus. Orville Wright inspected personally every detail of preparation.

Lieut. Foulois, at a sign from Orville Wright, climbed into the passenger's seat beside the motor. Orville clamored into his behind Foulois. He gripped the levers, and his brother Wilbur slipped the cable which released the starting weight. The aeroplane shot down the track, rose before it reached the end, and as it drawn up by visible hands, the white wingsman-bird rose higher and higher, reached the end of the field, turned at a slight angle, and came about, facing the muddy cheering multitude.

Climbing up as it were, on the air, mounting higher and higher, Orville brought the machine at great speed once again fully around the field. Then, with a short turn, he swept straight forward over the heads of the crowd, and came about, facing the muddy cheering multitude. He came straight forward over the heads of the crowd, and came about, facing the muddy cheering multitude.

Unwavering, the aeroplane kept its course straight to the south, and it seemed to be rising even higher as it passed over the dense and heavily wooded country in the distance. Smaller and smaller it grew until it became a mere speck against the pearl sky.

Those who had glasses saw the aeroplane turn, first to the left, then to the right, above Shuter Hill. Suddenly the speck was lost to view and as the seconds passed a silence grew upon the crowd, a silence that spoke of deep concern.

Suddenly the speck came in sight again, over the distant hill. A cry of "There it is!" swept over the watching crowd.

Onward the machine came, growing with each second, and seemingly swerved from its course by a westerly breeze. It grew and grew, until almost every detail of it was visible. Soon the aerial navigators were home again over the drill ground; flying very low. Orville steered straight across the field, and at a height of about 25 feet, swung round again to the southward, and landed easily far down the field. The task was done, and in triumph.

Even more dramatic than its departure from Fort Myer, was the advent of the aeroplane and its passengers at the southerly turning point on Shuter Hill, just outside of Alexandria.

The aerial apparition above the distant horizon of tree tops unheralded and almost unexpected.

The detail of cavalry on duty there to keep back the people, forgot the purpose of their presence and sat upon their horses, watching, like everybody else, the blurred apparitions. Then began to come the soft distant purring of the motor, it grew louder and finally became an angry, churning clamor.

Suddenly the navigator of the sky "put his helm over" and the wonderful air craft with a sharp list to starboard cut across the course and turned the aerial buoy from the west. It afforded a splendid exhibition of the responsiveness and perfect dirigibility of the aeroplane.

Beyond the high promontory of Shuter Hill the aeroplane was easily 300 feet above ground, but the trees and buildings on the hill called for a still greater altitude to clear them. The watching crowd clearly saw the formless, tilted, the great canvas bird breasted another air wave, and rose into a higher stratum of the atmosphere.

She cleared the hill easily and a great cheer broke from the hundreds assembled on the hill top. She shot at railroad speed over the imaginary line, swung majestically round in a wide circle and rising to a height of fully 250 feet, rushed back toward Fort Myer.

They Sank to Death in a Treacherous Hole

WEST SPRINGFIELD, July 31.—Four girls, the oldest 14 years of age, were drowned in the Agawan river at 3:30 yesterday afternoon while bathing in the shallow opposite to Gosselin's grove. The victims were Jennie May Riley, aged 12, and Alice Josephine Riley, aged 10, sisters of 60 Lowell street, and Alice Vincent, aged 11, and Ethel Vincent, aged 12, of 186 Norman street, all of West Springfield.

The girls together had secretly planned a bathing expedition in the Agawan. They started from their homes about 2:30 yesterday afternoon, reaching the banks of the river but swift running river at 3. Selecting a shallow point nearly opposite to Gosselin's grove, they divested themselves of much of their clothing and waded about in the water to their hearts content for half an hour.

Some 15 feet from the shore a large fat rock projects out of the water. On its neither side, but unknown to the girls, there is a treacherous hole eight feet in depth, and it was easily to wade out to this rock and the girls did so, disappearing themselves on its flat but slippery surface.

Suddenly, one of the girls, Alice Josephine Riley, it is thought, slipped off the rock and sank in the deep waters of the hole. Without hesitation, her three companions jumped in after her. None of the four could swim and it is surmised that they were all unaware of the existence of the hole. They must have struggled for several minutes and called for help, too.

James Bresnahan, 12 years of age, living on Baldwin street, a few hundred yards from the scene, hearing cries, ran to the aid and in a futile endeavor to rescue the girls nearly lost his life. They sank, all four of them, before his eyes, while he clung with one hand to the rock.

A few moments later six young men, who had been at the farther end of Gosselin's grove, swam across the river and without difficulty recovered the bodies of the girls. The young men were Albe Coran, David Denos, Frank Bernard and Joseph Fontaine, all of Agawan, and Eli Cole and William Mahoney, both of West Springfield.

Tomkinson, assistant pastor, who has just returned from a trip to the northwest, during which he attended the Northern Baptist convention at Portland, Ore., will preach in the morning at 10:30 and in the evening at 8:30. Solos will be sung by Mr. Henry E. Hardy. The Sunday school will meet at noon.

Shepherd Mission

There will be good speaking and singing at the meeting tonight, 261 Dutton St., at 8 o'clock. Open-air meeting on the South common near pond, at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Sunday school at 10 o'clock in the mission. Sunday evening will be in charge of Supt. Shepherd. Subject, "The Golden Rule." Good singing. All are welcome.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

The regular service of Sunday will be held as usual at 10 o'clock and will be in the person of Mr. permitting Mrs. St. John of the Hepzibian house, New York, will be the speaker.

THE ACRE CLUB

CONDUCTED A VERY ENJOYABLE CUTTING

The members of the Acre club, a newly formed organization of young men who reside in the vicinity of Dutton and Market streets, held an outing the other day and had a most enjoyable time. The full membership was present and many lively swimming contests were indulged in. All took a dip, with the exception of Henry Roach, who refused to follow the other members of the party. He was assigned to the responsible duties of minding the clothes. While all were enjoying the swim, Mr. Roach performed many stunts on the banks.

Among the other members of the party who contributed to the amusement was John Dunlavy, who gave an exhibition of diving. He struck bottom in one of the deepest parts of the stream and brought to the surface the trunk of a large tree.

The party left the scene at a seasonable hour and upon arriving in town voted it the most enjoyable affair ever held under the auspices of the popular club.

THE RED MEN

PASSACONAWAY TRIBE HELD A MEETING LAST NIGHT

The regular weekly meeting of Passaconaway tribe of Red Men was held last night, and despite the excessive heat the attendance was very large. Sachem James Kershaw occupied the chair and during the evening business of importance was transacted.

Past Sachem Leonard F. Steele gave a good account of the tribe's progress during the past five years. He was tendered a vote of thanks for his able and efficient management.

At the conclusion of the meeting the Haymakers went into monthly session. Chief Haymaker George F. Sutherland, chief of the Haymakers' propositions were received and three candidates were initiated. In new business the deputy great haymaker, James H. Hickey, assisted by Past Chief Haymaker Leonard F. Steele, installed the following named officers-elect to their various Haymakers' Post offices: Haymaker James Kershaw, Overseer Wm. H. Martin, Collector of Straws Frank Riny, Keeper of Bundles Gus I. Wilkins, Keeper of Barndoor Gus I. Wilkins, Keeper of Hayloft Geo. O. Spaulding, Horn Blower Fred Nichols. The newly installed officers returned thanks for the honors conferred upon them.

The deputy, on behalf of the convention, presented to the chief haymaker a handsomely framed regulation certificate of the union and the receipt of a money order for $100.00, the amount of the dues for the year. The money order was received with much enthusiasm and a musical program was carried out.

CONFIDENCE GAME

BEING WORKED HERE BY A YOUNG MAN

An allusion has been made in this city for the past few days, trying to make one of the prominent business men of the city. The police have been informed of the man's presence in the city and are on the lookout for him.

Last night George H. Taylor, of the police station, that during the day a man called on him and told a hand-made story asked for a small loan. He asked that he was a representative of the Morrison & Plummer Co. of Chicago, but despite the fact that the story was a plausible one he failed to secure the loan.

GLIDDEN TOUR

WAS OFFICIALLY COMPLETED AT KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, July 31.—The American Automobile association's sixth annual endurance tour and its most successful one, was officially completed yesterday afternoon.

Only two of the 10 cars that had reached St. Louis were perfect. The cars were from Kansas, Kansas City, Detroit and Lexington. This left only three of the 10 cars to enter Kansas City with no marks against them.

The new cars in the Glidden trophy class completed the tour in excellent form.

FAVORS CONFERENCE REPORT ON TARIFF BILL

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Expressing himself as of the opinion that the United States was on the eve of the most prosperous era it had ever enjoyed, Speaker Joseph C. Cannon last night, in an authorized statement, declared that he was in favor of and would support and vote for the conference report on the tariff bill.

ANNUAL REUNION

OF ALUMNI OF ST. CESAIR COLLEGE

The annual reunion of the alumni of St. Cesair college, St. Cesair, Quebec, residing in the United States, will be held this year at Revere beach on Aug. 9, according to an announcement made Friday by President Joseph D. Goddu, of Holyoke. The alumni association of the United States is known as the Cercle St. Cesair Des Etats Unis and its members are scattered throughout the country. It was founded at Holyoke in 1901. The guest of honor at this year's gathering will be Rev. M. Donatien, superior of the college.

ENJOYABLE DAY

AT CANOBIE LAKE BY GARFIELD RELIEF CORPS

The James A. Garfield Relief Corps had a delightful outing yesterday at Canobie Lake park. They left Lowell about 10 o'clock and it was late in evening when they arrived home. The day was very enjoyably spent in taking in the various amusements with dinner at noon and luncheon at 6 o'clock. The theatre was attended in the afternoon and the play pronounced a great source of merriment. The entire party was photographed in a group by C. A. Bill's photographer of Nashua. Among the guests were Quartermaster E. K. Fife and Mrs. Fife, Chaplain Philip Goddard and Mrs. Goddard, Sergeant Major C. H. Stokney and Mrs. Stokney, Post surgeon Joseph Denio and many others.

UP-TO-THE-MINUTE HOSIERY

Two Pairs of Stockings Are Worn by Women Who Affect the Latest Fad.

If you would be up to the minute in all that pertains to your hosiery, you will find it well to face with a pair of stockings. It is just like a man who starts along a course both pairs will be of the same color and texture, most commonly sort of silk. He doesn't under the stockings of a stand just how it happened, but he more vivid color than those worn on usually marches up bravely and finds the outside. Yellow shining through that he enjoys both matrimony and ice cream. A stunning combination worn with natty little bronze pumps. Green. If every girl who eats a saucer of ice over blue gives a peacock effect. But black over an intense peridot green is considered the last word in hosiery smartness when the accompanying gown is of some sheer black stuff and the accessories also of the bright green. A New York woman who at Newport is noted for her wonderful costumes has had made for her a pair of black silk stockings of fairy-like texture adorned with a flight of black lace butterflies. These stockings are to be worn over a pair of bright copper colored hose. White silk stockings elaborately inset with long panels of lace are bewitching when a shimmer of pale green or a rose tint shows through their laciness. The white kid slippers worn with them have on the toes a motif of the same kind of lace as that inset in the stockings.

FOOTWEAR FOR THE SUMMER GIRL

This stocking fad is hardly conducive to warm weather comfort, but what woman ever considers physical well being when she can attain the sartorial uplift derived from being in the vanguard of fashion? The present stocking style reminds one of the young man who had no one to darn his socks, so he always wore two pairs on the theory that the holes would not come under each other. But followers of the present craze have no such excuse for their duplex stocking system. It is vanity, with no hint of necessity.

Speaking of aurora borealis effects, many women who hitherto have scorned colored footwear as loud and utterly impossible are this summer indulging in "an occasional debauch" of gay shoes and pumps. At the right time and place such footwear is charming, and it is the wearing of these effects on inopportune occasions and with the wrong costume that has placed it under the ban of women of unimpeachable taste. The afternoon gown offers a fine chance to match it with fetching gay foot novelties, but the woman cream or a sundae would put a penny in the plate to erect a monument to the inventiveness of ice cream that could build a tower so tall that it would make the tallest monument look like a fencepost. While it was Dolly Madison who first made ice cream, they tell us it was the wife of a young naval officer, Nancy Johnson, who invented the ice cream freezer. She deserves as much credit as the president's wife. They were one in achievement; they should be one in fame and immortality.

INDIVIDUALITY IN ROOM DECORATIONS.

The passion for individuality in room decoration is growing rather than diminishing. A charming young matron has conceived the most original scheme of decoration for her drawing room, which is at once fascinating to the artistic sensibilities and snacks, too, of much common sense. The parquet floor is covered with white bearskin rugs. In the middle of the room is a huge sofa that accommodates several sitters comfortably. This sofa is upholstered in black and white satin to show off to advantage the woman who sits upon it. Two capacious armchairs are covered with rare pieces of old brocade, and there are four ordinary chairs placed beneath the shade of a monster palm. Two flame colored azaleas in pots show up against a cream white wall. In the background are merely a baby grand piano and its accompanying stool and a writing table and chair. The curtains separating this room from the library are of purple velvet, and the window hangings, instead of the usual white muslin, are of gray chiffon.

A dining room that exudes exotic taste and originality has been designed

WOMEN IN POLITICS DON'T WANT VOTES.

Two women who have been observing politics in Washington at close range are fixed in their opposition to equal suffrage. They are Miss Dolly Curtis, sister of Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, and Mrs. Gore, wife of the blind senator from Oklahoma. Miss Curtis is her brother's business agent and confidential secretary, and to the members of the house and of the senate she is known as one of the cleverest politicians of the day. She gathers material for her brother's speeches, and she has come out and worked actively for him in all his campaigns.

She knows what politics means, and she says the field is no place for women. Mrs. Gore is an even more significant example of the antisuffragist. When her husband astonished the senate the other day by quoting from the cotton industry there was applause for him, but none for the woman who had gathered those figures and repeated them to him until they were imprinted in his memory. In the widest sense Senator Gore is what his wife makes him. She reads to him for several hours a day, covering home and foreign news. She digests statistics, financial and consular reports—in fact, covers everything in the day's news and imparts it to her husband. As a result she has come to know life and to know the political game above all things, yet she is firm in her hostility to women voting. Her experience has made her an antisuffragist, as is the case with the majority of women who gain more than a superficial knowledge of practical politics.

FROM MRS. TAFT'S COOKBOOK

It is not generally known that among Mrs. Taft's many accomplishments is that of being a fine cook. The first lady of the land has old fashioned ideas about housekeeping and an old cookery book that has been in her family for generations as a source of inspiration for her culinary efforts. The recipe here given is to be found between the black cloth covers of this interesting volume:

BUCKEYE FRIED CHICKEN.

Cut the chicken up in suitable pieces and steam them for twenty minutes in a steamer with as little water as possible. Then remove from the steamer and when cool cover with softened butter and roll in fine yellow cornmeal which has been plentifully sprinkled with pepper and salt and a teaspoonful of sugar. These ingredients should be sifted together before using. Fry the pieces of chicken in very hot pork fat until a golden brown.

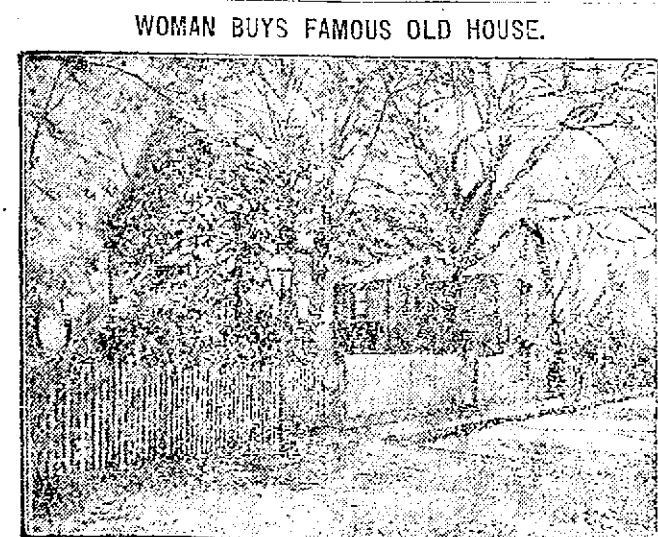

TO MEND AN ELECTRIC BELL.

Most people have at one time or another had to fix on their front doors the notice, "Please Knock—Bell Out of Order," but very few seem to know what a simple thing it is to keep an electric bell in working order. To begin with, the battery jar requires filling up occasionally, as the water evaporates, and if this is done regularly, say once a month or so, the bell should not need other attention more frequently than about every eighteen months.

After about this length of time the bell begins to sound more and more feebly and at last it is silent altogether. When this occurs empty the battery jar and refill with water to which crushed salt ammoniac has been added in the proportion of a quarter of a pound of salt ammoniac to a quart of water. The salt ammoniac must be first dissolved in cold water, and then sufficient should be poured into the jar to nearly fill it. Of course if the mechanism of the bell is out of order the services of an electrician will have to be called in, but that is a different matter. Many people send for the electrician when all that is needed is the addition of salt ammoniac.

A PARISIAN WOMAN'S CRITICISM.

"Women's hats," says Mme. Sevigne, "are so many crazy lamp shades, pretensions and as much as the shade of an umbrella, for they conceal the eyes—topsy turvy saucers, thatched roofed little shelters for cab stands. Then the untidy bundles piled on the top of these mushroom monstrosities make them still worse—sheaves of lilies, armfuls of iris blossoms, bunches of peonies, of water lilies, magnolias, rhododendrons. Or, orchids, too, are pillaged of their most voluminous fruit—peaches, apples, pears. We shall soon have mothers and as for the girls—why, a sea-shell is too small and cumbersome to be used. And, as underneath there is generally a goose, the poor man who has to champion this menagerie is really to be pitied." Critics, however severe, never yet succeeded in changing anything, so that the mode does not mind these attacks. It thrives on them and seems to prove the old adage that the biting of a nail only drives it in the finger.

WOMAN BUYS FAMOUS OLD HOUSE.

It is interesting to know that the House of Seven Gables made famous by Nathaniel Hawthorne will probably have an interesting and useful future as well as a notable past. It has been purchased by Mrs. George R. Emerton, and it will be used as a settlement house. The house was built in 1622 in Salem, Mass.

with a sense of the eternal fitness of things never makes a mistake in the selection of her footwear and hosiery, no matter what the prevailing fad may be.

With lingerie frocks, slippers made of linen crochet are charming. They have a lining of silk, a stunning cold buckle and, of course, the high French heel. For women on frosty thoughts intent it may be well to add that the new silk stockings have heels and toes lined with helle thread. These are the latest substitutes for silk stockings with cotton soles.

CATHERINE TALBOT.

New York.

THE INVENTOR OF ICE CREAM.

Dolly Madison was famous for her beauty, grace and social charm, but she has never been given the credit for her greatest achievement—the invention of ice cream. For the Americans tell us that she was the first to serve this national delicacy. The wife of the president must have been a wonderful woman, gifted in everything from diplomacy to cooking.

The men have long suspected that some woman invented both ice cream and matrimony. For men for whom have been invented into both. Let a boy and a girl go out walking just anywhere, and suddenly the boy

FOR THE BUNGALOW.

For summer in the bungalow, clever women take all furniture and make flowered covers for them. On the porch, which covers their breakfast, work and all. A good method in this fashion with cushions, very attractive and portables to which is very attractive at a small expense.

Good Things to Eat

PICKLED ONIONS.

Take small button onions, remove the outer skin with the fingers and the seed with a silver knife (steel discolors them), throw into salt water, allowing them to remain for twenty-four hours. Then put them on the fire in a porcelain lined preserving kettle with fresh salt water and let them come to a boil. Remove from the fire, pour off the water, put onions in a large stone jar and pour over hot vinegar, which has been previously scalded, with mace, whole pepper pods, unground spices, one tablespoonful of sugar and salt to taste. Cover, set away until cold, then bottle. When spices are used they should be put in a small cheesecloth bag and thrown into the vinegar. This simplifies the necessity of straining.

BUTTERCUP JELLY.

Soak half a package of gelatin in half a cup of cold water for half an hour. Scald a pint of milk in a double boiler and stir in the soaked gelatin and strain through cheesecloth. Beat yolks of three eggs, add a heaping cup of granulated sugar and add the boiling mixture, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and cook and stir until it begins to thicken. Whip the white of an egg stiff. When the yellow jelly begins to coagulate around the edges set the bowl containing the whipped white in ice water and beat the jelly in by spoonfuls gradually until all is in and the sponge is thick and smooth. Turn into mold.

APPLE PUDDING A LA WALDORE.

Peel, core and slice sufficient apples to fill a baking dish. Butter the dish thickly and put in the apples in layers, alternating them with stale cake crumbs and a little melted butter, using two tablespoonfuls of the latter to a pint of apples. Let the last layer be a thick one of cake crumbs and put in a moderately hot oven until the apples are tender. Then beat together two eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar (more should be added if the apples are very tart), add one cupful of cream and pour it over the apples. Return to the oven until the pudding is a rich golden color and serve with cream.

RICE A LA JAPONAISE.

A woman who has had long experience in cooking rice in Japan insures separate white grains in this way: She washes the rice until the last water is clear and all the flour coating the grains has disappeared. Then she throws it into rapidly boiling water and when it is about three-fourths done removes, drains it, puts it into a dish, covers it and finishes the cooking in the oven.

TUTTI FRUTTI MARMALADE.

This is also good to serve with meat. If possible get wild plums for the preserve. They are better than the ordinary ones. Scald them so that the skins may be removed easily. Pack them in a preserving kettle in alternate layers with sliced apples, sliced pears and sugar. The sugar is used in equal weight with the fruit. Cook on the back of the stove until thick and smooth.

NEW WAY OF COOKING PEAS.

Some old fashioned cooks and possibly younger ones boil up the tender pea pods with the peas, removing them after the peas are tender. The young pods are nearly as sweet as the peas and have much the same flavor. The inner white husks are often cooked on the ears of green corn to preserve their sweetness.

BALLOON FOR ANNIE S. PECK.

Miss Annie S. Peck, not content with her wonderful pedestrian achievements as a mountain climber, is ambitious of becoming a balloonist. This indefatigable woman is now arranging with a sky pilot to make a record breaking aerial voyage in Massachusetts, starting at night in a southerly wind, with a view to reaching Canada. Miss Peck's latest climb was the Huascaran, in the Andes, the highest mountain in this hemisphere. She attained an altitude of 25,000 feet, breaking the record of W. W. Graham, who reached 23,500 feet in the Huacachaca.

COLLEGES SLOW TO HONOR WOMEN.

Brown university has done a gracious thing in bestowing a degree upon Julia Ward Howe. The universities of the country have been slow in recognizing women with academic honors, and in this they seem to follow the plan of the universities of Europe, which has been to deny women the slightest honor. Mrs. Howe is ninety years old, so that Brown even has been late. However, better late than never, and it is certain that in the future other women of her spirit and work in the world will not have to wait so long for academic glory. Bowdoin college gave a degree to Miss Sarah Orna Jewett for her literary achievements, and the University of Chicago sent a woman professor as its delegate to the recent inauguration of a college president.

NEW HAT STANDS.

Even the motor hat must be treated with due respect if it is to be insured a long and honorable career, and many motoring Frenchwomen are said to carry with them an ingenious little folding hat stand like a miniature violin case stand furnished with a hollow half ball top in nickel, which shuts up and telescopes to a few bars of metal about six inches in length.

This is of course intended to stand on the dressing table of the village inn which boasts no accommodation for hats.

In the case of those women of adventurous spirit who delight in leaving the beaten track and risking endless discomforts in the most rustic of Breton or Norman auberges, where the apple harvest is the primary care and the amenities of life are no part of the daily round, this accessory is a more than necessary one and adds very little to the luggage.

PARASOL COVER A GREAT NEED.

Why does not some clever manufacturer invent a parasol cover which may be slipped over the light colored or lingerie sunshade when it must be carried on a railroad train? The new long handled parasols are hopeless when it comes for packing, for none will fit in ordinary dress trunks, even when put in corner-cornered fashion, and the only alternative is to carry the delicate parasol along in the train and risk its becoming soiled with dust. One woman makes covers for her parasols from dark colored silk, binding the top and bottom edges with narrow ribbon, but these covers are hard to make, and even the best of them have a bulky look. Let the umbrella man come to the rescue and provide a practical, neat and smart looking jacket for the traveling parasol.

TOURIST TIPS.

Leather covers are provided for the tourist's Baedeker guides, so that she can carry her little red book boldly without being smiled at as a sightseer. Those compact and convenient envelope and letter sheet pads come now in covers of green or scarlet morocco. Big leather cases with a "window" of isinglass are to be had for the auto maps.

FASHION GOSSIP.

A WHITE bag purse of linen and Irish crochet baby lace dangles like a chateleine bag from the belt of millinery when she wears her best lingerie gown. It is very strong and useful, besides giving a Parisian touch to the costume.

A pretty ballroom fancy comes from Paris—that of carrying fans made of artificial flowers. One carried by an American belle at a recent reception was of lilies of the valley, which were massed upon the sticks toward the ends. Pansies, violets, all kinds of artificial flowers, are utilized, and the fans are tied with ribbons of a color harmonizing with the color of the flowers.

A clever girl who attended this reception went the artificial flower fan one better at her next party. She took a white gauze fan and covered it halfway down from the ends of the sticks with real roses, short stemmed and fastened on so they lay flat. It was a fan and a bouquet combined, and the fragrance when she waved it was charming.

The up to date woman when she is caught in a sudden downpour does not hasten to the nearest shop to invest in an umbrella or telephone for a cab. She takes from her hand bag a little folded arrangement of rubberized silk, scarcely more bulky than a pocket handkerchief. Unfolded, the scrap of silk reveals itself to be a shapely cover which claps to the edge of her hat brim all around, completely covering plumes or flower trimmings. The hat cover in place looks really like a puffed, crushed crown of silk and is not at all bulky or cumbersome in appearance.

A parasol of embroidered cross-larred dimity mounted over a lining of colored silk will be very pretty and quite new. The embroidery is used only on the edge and is very simple. Real deep scallops composed of small ones are used, and in every other scallop a simple flower design may be used, with a large dot in the scallops not embroidered.

The scalloped edge should be made very firm by running both outlines and padding between. This will keep the edge from pulling out. An enameled stick, either white or to match the lining, can be used.

The present craze for jewelry fashioned after old Egyptian pieces is likely to receive a fillip from the discoveries of the American explorer, Theodore Davis. Mr. Davis made these particular discoveries some time ago, but without details until he could place his "find" before the public in a satisfactory manner.

Mr. Davis was lucky or clever enough to unearth some wonderful ornaments which were the property of Queen Tanserit, the consort of the famous Pharaoh Set II. One, a finger ring, with symbols forming the name of Tanserit II, is interesting as being the oldest specimen of monogramy now in existence. There are a splendid necklace of the finest gold beads, rossette pattern, and a beautiful floral tiara. A pair of earrings is among the treasures—most elaborate earrings, so brave that it seems unlikely that Tanserit could have worn them except, perhaps, on rare state occasions. Another ornament of more fragile workmanship, somewhat resembling the hand ornaments worn by Indian women of rank

THE TROUSERETTE GOWN

It Is Built For Outdoor Sports and Aerial Touring.

HAVE you seen it, the trouserette gown? But for aerial touring it is an ideal costume, consisting, as it does, of a bifurcated skirt which is graceful and modest and a modish long waisted Frenchwoman's Aero club, as an outfit devoid of any trimming that might catch in the machinery and rattle outers are insisting that women who are content to find their own sporting pleasures here on terra firma broadcloth, and a smart little dress shall adopt it for "all outdoor occasions." fitting turban of brown fur is just the piece of millinery for the occasion.

When the flying car once gets to be a general means of transit the trouserette gown with other paraphernalia winning out of this trunk costume. for that particular use will be added to the motoring, yachting and driving tailor" says American women will never take the gown seriously. "Do trucks will femininity need? Of you think," says another dressmaker, "that women who have carefully trained currents of air something warm will ed their figures for—well, we won't be necessary, and all our winter furs say how many years—are going to take up something which absolutely annoys on our summer tours instead of repossal that hard work and wear and tear ing conveniently, as they do now, in on the system? Well, I guess not," cold storage.

Query: Are Women Obstinate?

If Yes, It Is Because They Do Not Know How to Philosophize—A Hint as to the Remedy—Coming and Passing Fashions.

THE one thing women don't seem to realize the value of is compromise. A woman takes a stand, and neither heaven nor the other place can move her from it. She doesn't care if by holding on to her opinion she loses everything in the world. She won't budge an inch.

It's a well known fact that women enjoy being martyrs, and perhaps this has something to do with their obstinacy. But men have no such illusion. I can tell you. Their whole world is run on compromise. When a man starts out to get a thing he does his best to succeed, but if he finds he cannot get it all then he becomes philosophical and gets as much as he can, arranging it with the other fellow on the amicable plan.

Catch one of my sex doing that! My friends, until women realize how important compromise is they cannot hope to get their rights or anything else that they want. Sometimes I think we were made uncompromising by nature—for an object, that of keeping the world up to a certain standard. At other times I think we are simply plumb foolish, but in whatever way you fix it we make as clever human beings, a great big mistake.

Change in Hair and Hats. Just as women are according to making a smart Psyche knot, braid the style in hairdressing is changing.

The hats are to blame for the patch basket is no more, and the old fashioned shape turned up in the back promises to be popular in the fall. Of course that means that the space at the back must be filled in with something more fluffy than tightly drawn hair, and rumor has it that Maude Adams cuts are to be the thing and that the designers in artificial hair are going to make a lot of money.

Let the brunette reflect, for this is to be a season for her. All kinds of loud shades are to be worn in the autumn, from brilliant copper to magenta, and these demand a brilliant skin and dark eyes. And, speaking of loud colors, they demand a milk white skin. Use this reason liquid powder is now being used

Boys Were Arrested This Afternoon for Ditching Cars

It was stated today that the Tremont & Suffolk or the Lawrence mills would not close during carnival or Labor day week. There is so much work on hand that the mill men cannot see their way clear to close for one week. The Massachusetts, Hoot and Merrimack mills will close for carnival week and the Hamilton, it was stated today, will close for the first three days of the week.

The local mills of the Bigelow Carpet company were closed all this week and it is not expected that they will close again on carnival week, though there is said to be a strong sentiment among the operatives to make holidays of the first three days of carnival week.

COURT HEARING

On Police Board Removal to be Held Aug. 9

The hearing for review of charges against the police board recently removed by Mayor Brown will not be held on Monday as had been planned, but one week from Monday, according to a letter received by City Solicitor Dunham, a time for a hearing on the merits will be set. The following is a copy of the letter received by Mr. Dunham from the clerk of the superior civil court:

Clerk of Court, Superior Civil Court,
Suffolk County, Boston, Mass.
July 30, 1909.

W. W. Duncan, Esquire, 15 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

Dear Mr. Duncan: The matter of the petition of the members of the board of police of Lowell, for revision of charges and revocation of order removing them from office will not be heard until a week from Monday on the merits will be set. The following is a copy of the letter received by Mr. Dunham from the clerk of the superior civil court.

Very truly yours,
Henry E. Bellow, Asst. Clerk.

CHINESE CONSUL

Was Shot and Seriously Wounded in His Office

NEW YORK, July 31.—Luk Wing, Chinese vice-consul in this city, was shot and seriously wounded in his office at 18 Broadway this afternoon. The assassin, a Chinaman, was arrested. The wounded consul was taken to St. Gregory's hospital.

The man who shot the vice consul gave his name and address as Matthew Yung, a Japanese of 1251 Bittenwood street, Philadelphia.

The assailant reached the Chinese consulate this afternoon and engaged in an animated conversation with Luk Wing. Luk Wing was later found lying on the stairs between the fourth and fifth floors with a bullet wound in his back.

The Japanese was captured as he was running from the building with a revolver in his hand. According to the police the Japanese shot Luk in self defense, that Luk attempted to shoot him and that he took the revolver away from the vice consul.

HEIR TO $10,000

Worked as Farmhand and Did Not Know His Name

NEW YORK, July 31.—J. Edward Cramsey, who was stolen as a baby by his mother and for years lived on a New Jersey farm in ignorance of his own name, will share in the million dollar estate left by Harriet Cramsey, his grandmother. Supreme Court Justice Bischoff yesterday denied the application of his aunt, Maria Sterling, to have her commissions as executrix paid out of his share, and ordered the referee to pay the young farmer the amount due him.

For the present the beneficiary, who struggled along on a farm for many years unconscious of the fact that he was heir to a fortune, must content himself with about $10,000 cash, his share in the $55,700 house of his grandmother's that was recently sold at the corner of Eighty-fourth street and Lexington avenue. Later he will get his share of the remainder of the estate in Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

"The information submitted to the court reveals a romance which dated back to 1877, when his father married a girl against the objections of his family, and after a stormy matrimonial life, separated from her within two years.

The mother left her home one night, taking her infant son with her, and dropped out of sight. The family never thought of looking for her again until the father died, and it was found that the boy, if alive, was heir to a large estate under the terms of his grandmother's will.

The testimony taken before a referee showed that his two aunts, Maria Sterling and Hannah Brown, planned to keep the boy in ignorance of his property right and buy him out as cheaply as possible if he still lived. Under the name of Edward Farrington, he finally was located on a farm at Dover, N. J. His work in the fields from five in the morning until eight at night had afforded him a bare living, and he had no idea that his real name was J. Edward Cramsey.

On October 22, 1904, a thirty prince in the form of Charles A. Sterling, the son of Maria Sterling, stopped him on the road as he was driving to the factory with the milk and asked him if $500 would be acceptable for a little interest in the young farmer had in some mortgaged property in New York. Cramsey's eyes bulged as he saw the money.

"The man held out the five hundred in bills," he said in speaking of the matter afterward. "I didn't know there was so much money in the world. Five hundred dollars all at once! He laid the paper down on the old wagon seat in the road. I signed my name, and he gave me the money. It was like a dream, and I was to be married in a few weeks."

A little later, when Attorney George Bristol informed Cramsey that he had signed away his right to share in $55,700 worth of property, the farmer instructed the attorney to bring suit. To court he was now resolved that the young man's interest, which had been transferred by young Sterling to his mother and Hannah Brown, his aunt, must be returned.

The plot to defraud J. Edward Cramsey was shown by the letters of George C. Sterling, which were court records, and by the testimony of Maria Sterling, the woman who must be done by one man, and very much of the out will get out of the law and the fit will be up." Again referring to the deal to buy Cramsey out for $500, he said: "There is a whole lot of work to be done."

He said he was a "big" man, an efficient for the court, in which she

SECOND GAME

After an intermission of 10 minutes the second game was started. The only change in the teams was in the batteries, Finlayson and Waters being in the point for the visitors, while Leachy and Huston did the honors for the home team.

First Inning

The visitors started crashing the ball right off the reel in the first inning and when the first half was over Brockton had two runs. Shannon got a free pass and went to second on a sacrifice by McLane. Donovan fled to Finlayson. Murch was given his base on balls and then Shannon and Murch executed a double steal. Hickman hit to right field for a single and Shannon and Murch scored. Hickman stole second but while attempting to steal third was thrown out.

In the latter half of the first inning Venable hit to Shannon. Fitz hit Finlayson and was out at first while Finlayson was third out on strikes.

Score—Brockton 2; Lowell 0.

Second Inning

In the second inning Bannan and McGovern gave away two balls. At this point Finlayson was relegated to the bench and another new comer, Leonard, was put in to pitch. Walters sacrificed. Finlayson bunted a fly to Willie and Huston later caught Bannan napping at third.

Fanzia struck out and Howard followed with a base on balls. Willie hit to Hickman and was out at first. Walters fled to Hickman.

Score—Brockton 2; Lowell 0.

Third Inning

In the third inning Shannon struck out McLane got on first after sending one two hot for Leonard to handle. Donovan fled to Howard and Murch fled to Venable.

In Lowell's half Huston drew a base on balls. Leonard bunted to Finlayson who threw Huston out at second. Leonard went to second on a wild pitch. Venable fanned the breezes and Fitz was third out on a fly to McLane.

Score—Brockton 2; Lowell 0.

KEPT A PRISONER

Latest Story of Young Rothschild Told by a Woman

CHICAGO, July 31.—For the first time the true facts concerning the romance of Miss Olga Menn, daughter of Dr. Rudolph Menn of 15 Lincoln avenue, and Baron Oskar Rothschild, which terminated in the tragic death of the young nobleman, were yesterday made known.

The woman who furnishes the information has just returned from abroad. She is a personal friend of the Rothschilds and pays frequent visits to their palaces. She was in Vienna when Baron Oskar vainly sought to secure the consent of Baron Albert, his father, to marry the girl. "You may marry the girl if you choose," Baron Albert is reported to have said, "but if you do you are no son of mine. I will renounce you and not one dollar of my money will you receive."

Baron Albert followed this with a command that Baron Oskar should leave the house and never return. The young man, however, did not obey the command and remained in Vienna. They were present when he told Miss Menn of his shattered hopes and without even the consolation of a final farewell they parted. He came back to Vienna.

The movements of the young couple from the time they left Chicago for Vienna, and the events which followed, are given in a most interesting and detailed manner in the Twenty-fourth Century Limited, and by some of their fellow passengers.

The statement furnished by Mrs. Menn, who is a personal friend of the Rothschilds, is a most interesting and detailed account of the events which followed the departure of the young couple from Chicago. It is a story of love, of sacrifice, and of tragedy.

Mrs. Menn appeared somewhat embarrassed and sad as she related the story. She said that she had been a personal friend of the Rothschilds for many years, and that she had known Baron Oskar since he was a child. She said that she had been very fond of him, and that she had been very disappointed when he had decided to marry Miss Menn.

Mrs. Menn said that she had been very disappointed when she had learned that Baron Oskar had decided to marry Miss Menn. She said that she had been very disappointed when she had learned that Baron Oskar had decided to marry Miss Menn.

OSAKA ON FIRE

Many Persons Killed and Buddhist Temple Destroyed

OSAKA, Japan, July 31.—A fire which threatens to destroy this city started at four o'clock this morning and in spite of the most energetic efforts to check it, it is still burning. The firemen who have been fighting all day are completely exhausted and troops have been called out to assist in fighting the flames and to preserve order in the city. Everything is dry on account of the drought and the water supply is failing. The fire is being fanned by a strong breeze and thousands of buildings, including the world famous Buddhist temple, have already been destroyed. The total loss will be large. A number have been killed and seriously injured by the fire.

Osaka is one of three "imperial cities" of Japan and is one of the most important manufacturing and commercial cities of the empire. It shelters almost three-quarters of a million people.

The Buddhist temple for which the city is famous among travellers covers an enormous area. The chief public building of Osaka is the palace built of stone in 1853.

FIRE IS SPREADING

Every Available Man in Six Villages is Fighting the Flames

BOURNE, July 31.—A fire which started in the Bourne woods shortly before noon today had assumed such proportions at 1 p. m. that every available man in the villages of Pocasset, Cataumet, North Falmouth, Hatchville, Xerament Beach and Buzzards Bay was summoned to fight the flames. Several houses are in the path of the fire and three large and valuable cranberry bogs were in danger of being ruined.

The origin of the fire was somewhat suspicious. The blaze was first discovered about 11 a. m. by Fire Warden Frank Chadwick in a pine grove near the road leading from the village of Pocasset to Falmouth. Within an incredibly short time the blaze had assumed the size of a regular forest fire. A northeast wind sent the flames toward the villages of Pocasset, Cataumet, Hatchville and North Falmouth, and every able-bodied man in the villages was pressed into fire-fighting service. The fire fighters were seriously handicapped by the fact that there was no road running across the path of the flames where a good stand could be made.

The men were concentrated in the vicinity of the cranberry bogs which were owned by Frank Irwin, Fred Greer and Dave Nye and made a plucky struggle to subdue and check the flames. The smoke was so thick and the fire so hot in the bogs that it was impossible to tell at 1 p. m. what progress the men were making, although it was believed that they would be unable to save the bogs.

The homes of Fred Greer, Dave Nye, Jim West, Mrs. Fanny Handy and Aaron Swift were in the path of the fire, and a great effort was made to save them.

BIG REDUCTION IN DELIRIUM TREMENS CASES

Number of Consumption Cases Very Large—No Adequate Means of Caring For Them—556 Patients Treated During Year

The annual report of the city physician, Dr. J. E. Smith, came out today. The report is for the year ending December 31, 1908. In his introductory remarks, Dr. Smith says: "As usual the hospitals have been quite full throughout the year. However, a large reduction in the number of delirium tremens cases is noted, there being fifty less cases treated than during the previous year.

"The number of consumption cases is very large, and we still have no adequate means of taking care of those cases properly. The need of a consumptive hospital in this city is very urgent.

"We still lack the services of another nurse for night duty in the male hospital.

"There were 656 patients treated during the year. Deaths numbered 104, 55 males and 49 females. Twenty children were born during the year, 12 males and 8 females.

"The patients treated came under the following heads:

"General diseases," which includes all diseases of which there were 45 cases; "diseases of the circulatory system," including disease of the heart of which there were 31 cases, and apoplexy, 26 cases; "respiratory system," "nervous system," "digestive system," and eye, ear, nose and throat.

More than 100 cases received surgical treatment.

The ages of those who died during the year were as follows: Under one year of age, 5; between 1 and 10 years, 1; between 10 and 20 years, none; between 20 and 30 years, 2; between 30 and 40 years, 9; between 40 and 50 years, 12; between 50 and 60 years, 16; between 60 and 70 years, 28; between 70 and 80 years, 14; between 80 and 90 years, 11; over 90 years of age, 1.

The following table gives the ages of those who were treated during the year:

Under 20 years of age, 62; between 20 and 40 years, 132; between 40 and 60 years, 330; between 60 and 80 years, 208; over 80 years of age, 39.

SOLENN REQUIEM WHO KNOWS HIM?

For Rev. Fr. Ronan at Unknown Man Killed on St. Peter's Today B. & M. Tracks

At St. Peter's church this morning at 9 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem, for a man's mind was offered up for the repose of the soul of the late Rev. Michael Ronan, the lamented pastor of St. Peter's who died July 3. There was a very large congregation present including a number from other parishes throughout the city. Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan was celebrant of the mass, Rev. John P. Burns, deacon, Rev. John T. O'Brien, sub-deacon, Rev. Fr. Donigan of the Connecticut diocese, a relative of Rev. Fr. Ronan was master of ceremonies. Within the sanctuary were seated Rev. W. George Sullivan, Rev. Peter Ronan, rector of St. Peter's church, Meeting House Hill, Dorchester, a brother of the deceased, Rev. Michael Ronan, rector of St. Peter's church, Dorchester, and Rev. John A. McHenry, O. M. I., pastor of the homestead corporation church, this city. The regular choir under the direction of Prof. P. B. Hargerty rendered the impressive Gregorian chant, Mrs. J. W. McKennedy, presided at the organ.

The body of an unknown man, badly mangled, was found lying on the Boston and Maine tracks between the Lumby street bridge and the old Blumery station. The body was found about 2 o'clock in the morning by Boss Shifter Edward O'Brien, who expressed the opinion that the unfortunate must have met his death between 9 o'clock at night and the time his body was discovered. Evidently he was riding a freight and fell off. The police were notified and the remains were removed by Undertaker John A. Finnegan to his rooms at Davis Square where it awaits identification.

The body was that of a man between 40 and 45 years of age, five feet, six inches in height, of light complexion with pointed chin, gray eyes, high forehead, inclined to baldness with dark brown hair, slightly tinged with gray, and dark brown mustache. There were three teeth missing from the upper set and only one tooth in the lower. The body was clothed in heavy flannel underwear, black pants striped with gray, with blue overalls rolled up almost to the knees, black vest, white negligee shirt with black and blue pencil stripes, double-breasted blue coat, gray socks and blucher brogue cut at the top, a blue slouch hat, 2 1/2 size shoes and an old fashioned belt around the waist. In the clothing were a couple of combs, a lead pencil and some gauze and cotton. The man is supposed to have been an employee of a foundry or a mill.

OFFICIAL RECORD

Thermometer Reached High Mark Yesterday

While everybody agreed that yesterday was the hottest day of the season there was a great difference of opinion as to how hot it really was. Some of the high marks were taken from thermometers which were wholly unexposed to the sun, but the reading of these thermometers could not be called the average temperature.

What is probably the only official thermometer in the city is owned by the Locke & Co. Company and is located in their yard in Broadway. The thermometer is thirty feet high and is exposed to the sun, but the reading of this thermometer is not taken until about six o'clock in the evening when there is no breeze and the sun is about two-thirds down.

The thermometer of 2:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon registered 85.00. The highest mark reached this year which was made yesterday by the Boston July 31, 1908, was 86.00.

Thermometers were made by three of the largest firms of the Locke & Co. Company, who noted the rise of the mercury from 61 to 85.00 p. m. At 1:15 the thermometer showed 84 degrees and showed 85.00 at 2:55 p. m. and then to 86.00. A thermometer which was exposed to the sun in the same yard was found to read 86.00.

SEEKS IMMUNITY

SUGAR TRUST MAN HAS MADE A PLEA

NEW YORK, July 31.—Gustav E. Knebel, the leader who acted as intermediary between John E. Parsons and Adolph Serrat in the loan of $2,500,000 made by the American Sugar Refining Company to the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company, withdrew his tentative plea of "not guilty" in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court yesterday.

For his part in the deal, which resulted in the closing of the Philadelphia refinery and the suit for treble damages amounting to $2,500,000, Knebel was indicted.

Through the counsel, William D. Quinn, he appeared before Judge Graham yesterday.

Special pleas were then made in Knebel's interest, one being based on the allegation that the alleged offenses charged in the indictment dated July 1, 1908, were committed by the defendant before he was indicted.

The plea, presented by the statute of limitation, and on the other hand the fact that Knebel was entitled to his immunity from the trial of the suit of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company against the American Sugar Refining Company, he appeared as a defendant in the criminal branch of the United States circuit court yesterday.

More than 100 cases received surgical treatment.

The ages of those who died during the year were as follows: Under one year of age, 5; between 1 and 10 years, 1; between 10 and 20 years, none; between 20 and 30 years, 2; between 30 and 40 years, 9; between 40 and 50 years, 12; between 50 and 60 years, 16; between 60 and 70 years, 28; between 70 and 80 years, 14; between 80 and 90 years, 11; over 90 years of age, 1.

The following table gives the ages of those who were treated during the year:

Under 20 years of age, 62; between 20 and 40 years, 132; between 40 and 60 years, 330; between 60 and 80 years, 208; over 80 years of age, 39.

TWO LIVES LOST

Boat Capsized and Two Were Drowned

WIDDEFOORD POOL, Me., July 31.—Two women were drowned in a seasonal power boat accident at 10 o'clock last night. One body had been recovered, but at a late hour it had not been identified.

The power boat, owned by E. M. Vinton of Saco, left the latter place last night for a moonlight excursion from Island wharf and on board were 29 men and women from Saco and Biddeford. The boat went around "Wood Island" and when returning and off the point, between Sharps rock and the breakwater, it suddenly turned turtle and the passengers were thrown overboard with the exception of some persons who were in the cabin.

When the boat went over the passengers screamed and cried for help, attracting the attention of President Telford's yacht, the Sylph, which is in port with Prof. and Mrs. Louis T. Moore, the latter a sister of Mrs. Telford. The crew of the Sylph manned a launch with a powerful searchlight and hurried to the scene of the accident.

SHOT TO DEATH

NEGROES TAKEN FROM JAIL AND KILLED

OPPELOUSAS, La., July 31.—Onexime Thomas and Emile Antoine, negroes, who were being brought to jail here by two deputy sheriffs, were taken from the officers late Thursday and shot to death near Grand Prairie in this parish.

DIAMOND NOTES

Double header today. First game at 2.

It was one of the prettiest games ever witnessed here, even if we did lose.

"So much is going on in Detroit," said the writer to Jerry McGovern.

"Yes, he's going out to bat for Ty Cobb," responded Terry. "Sunny made a home run clout in the ninth inning that would make Ty Cobb green with envy."

"What's your pitcher, Terry?" was asked of McGovern before the game.

"Go to Hoss," was Terry's prompt and laconic reply.

"What's that?" demanded the inquirer.

"Hoss—double A—double 1. Pro. McGovern, if you don't believe me, you'll answer the apprehensions of the crowd."

And as for McGovern! The champion of the McGovern & McGovern may have the looks and a voice almost as loud as the band on Mitt Waters' piano but as a decision-maker he is like any one else of the town.

Following when Sunny was to bat, McGovern came in to bat with a first inning which was a back to back hitting party as the Port Jack Harkins, if you don't do it faster than a wink.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Wanderers go to No. Chelmsford this afternoon to play the 21. John's team in the L. & S. league series. Mangan and Dym will be the battery for the Wanderers.

The Y. M. C. A. Mt. Grove game, which has been looked forward to by players of both teams for a long while, takes place today at Washington park and a hot game is anticipated.

The Dragons play the Dixwells this afternoon on the Aiken street grounds.

The game between the O. M. I. Carrots and the W. A. A. of Woburn has been called off.

The Westford A. A. team meets Natchua at Natchua this afternoon and will present the following lineup: Pitchers, Butler, Whelan, catcher, Vaughn, Bartlett, 1b, O'Meara, 2b, Renner, Webb, 3b, Spiller, 3b, Shaw, outfield, Hartford, Towle and Fred Reynolds, late of the Worcester team.

The Belvideres play the C. Y. M. A. today on the First street grounds. "Sully."

BOXING GOSSIP

Johnny Summers is favorite at 5 to 2 over Jimmy Britt at London today.

Stacy Baldwin has gone to Highland Lake to prepare himself for several prospective engagements.

Henry Piet, a French lightweight, is reported to have designs on the American battlers of his class.

Kid Reider says he will go after a match with Alphonse if he wins over Kid Phayzen, Calgary, the latter part of next month.

Jimmy Walsh has been offered a meeting with Patsy Branigan, the little Pittsburgh bantamweight, who is showing so well.

Anybody know who James Curran of Boston is? He is a light weight, or so it was said, but he was in the night, but shed no lustre on this town by his ring performance.

Al Kaufman appears to have little mental stamina. He lost out with Edley Delaney and then let go of Morris Lewis who took him in hand when the veteran dropped him.

Lurch Cook and Sammy Smith, who put up such a fast battle some months ago, are to swap punches again at New York within the next three weeks. This will be Cross' first appearance in the ring since his long fight with Dick Hyland at Fresno.

That Langford and Ketchel will meet in the east, if at all, appears to be borne out by a telegram received from Willis Britt by Jack McGuigan of the National Sporting Club of Philadelphia. Britt asked McGuigan to raise the offer of $12,000 made by the Fairmount A. C. of New York. The Philadelphia declined to make public his answer.

The recent Welsh-Josephs match at Mountain Ash, Wales, drew upwards of 10,000 persons, the gate receipts reaching almost $25,000. The prices ranged from 50 cents to $12.50. So successful was the affair that the syndicate which staged the match for a match between Jim Driscoll and Over, Morris, with chances of being booked if other bids are turned in. It looks something like a return to the old conditions at Cardiff, when on the night of the finals of a tournament there would be from 15,000 to 17,000 persons present.

BASEBALL NOTES

Indianapolis, champions of the American association last year, now holds the cellar position.

Jack Taylor the former St. Louis Cardinal and Chicago club batter, is now with the Dayton team.

The flag at the American league grounds was at half-mast out of respect for Harry C. Pulliam.

Monte Cross, the once great shortstop of the Athletics has been given his unconditional release by Philadelphia.

"Halt" Hart the Everett boy catching for Montgomery of the Southern league stands fifth in the batting averages with .297.

Now that Frank Rowman has been placed behind the bat for St. Paul, Dan Hawley, the Worcester boy will not be working so much.

The New York American league club has purchased from the Hartford club pitcher Fisher and outfielder Wheeler.

The New York Americans have secured pitcher Richard Carroll of Akron, O., of the Ohio and Pennsylvania leagues. Carroll has won 17 straight games.

There is not a member of the championship team who has played in every game of the season. Mitchell held the record, but was lost out the other day because of a bad ankle.

Rip Richardson, the former Pittsburgh shortstop, is playing shortstop for the New York Power team, a club of Chicago, Upper. The same club was "Old" Hildbrand, the ex-Princeton pitcher and "Gibson" the once great Chicago University pitcher.

Empire Club called time in a 21-inning game between the New York Power team and the New York Americans. The game was called because of darkness.

THE GAME WENT ON AND LYONS WON 2 TO 1

By the death of Harry C. Pulliam, the president of the National league, one of the greatest athletes of all that stood for honor and clean sport has been lost. Pulliam was fearless, yet he never made a decision without carefully investigating both sides. His loss is not only severe to the National league, but to the great game itself.

The "Naps" broke Pitcher Summers' record, Tuesday, when they scored once. It was the first tally since the "Tiger" twister was 39 minutes, he having shut out the Athletics (one mings), Washington (18 mings), and Boston (nine mings), at three innings against Cleveland before 1.3. Jole's hand scored its only run of the game.

BOARD OF HEALTH EX-CONG. POWERS

Dr. Huntress Investigates Certified and Modified Milk

Believes That Modified Milk Plant in Lowell Properly Conducted Would Cut Down the Mortality From Cholera Infantum

At a meeting of the board of health held yesterday afternoon, Dr. Huntress, chairman, told of his observations in Waltham and Cambridge where he looked into the matter of certified milk, so called. There are two dairies at Waltham that are allowed to bear the name of certified milk farms.

The board of health insures perfect milk at these farms by first an inspection twice a year of the cows, and if any tubercular signs are seen such a cow is immediately killed, and secondly, an inspection of the dairies. No hay is allowed in the barns, and they are kept thoroughly clean. The cows themselves are washed before milking and sterilized, and the hands of the milkmen are washed and sterilized at the same time. The men wear white suits which are changed every one or two days.

Of course the cost of producing the milk is very high, and the dairymen naturally get a fancy price for their product, but the results of such farms are good. It has been found that the bacteria in milk have been reduced from over 100,000 per cubic centimeter to less than 1200 in some cases, and the milk is especially good for invalids.

The board of health of Cambridge produces a milk called "modified milk" which is sold to women who have sickly babies. It is made on scientific formulae, for the nearest chemical approach to mother's milk. One formula is for children under three months, another for children between three and nine months, and the third for children over nine months.

Dr. Huntress believes that if a modified milk station were established in Lowell, the mortality by cholera infantum might be cut down by half.

The board at its meeting yesterday voted to ask the opinion of the city solicitor as to whether the board can elect an inspector of milk before the term of the present milk inspector has expired. This does not mean that the present incumbent of the office of milk inspector, Mr. Melvin Master, is not giving satisfaction, but, in view of a new law recently passed by the legislature putting the office of milk inspector under the control of the board of health, the board wants to know if that department is now under its jurisdiction.

Fisher H. Pearson appeared before the board on behalf of the butchers and grocers of the city requesting that the board make some rules relative to exposure of meats, vegetables and fruit during the hot weather. Mr.

Is Slated for Judge in the New Customs Court

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Confident that the tariff-bill would go through in accordance with his ideas, President Taft has been devoting considerable time recently to the selection of the five judges of the customs court of appeals created by the new act. These selections have all been made by the president and it is said that approval of the judges will be made next week.

Former Congressman Samuel L. Powers of Boston, it was understood here yesterday, is slated for one of the judgeships. The president wants him as the New England member of the court, having decided when he first took up the selection of the judges that that section was entitled to representation on the court. Mr. Powers has the endorsement of Senators Lodge and Crane and his selection is pleasing to the Massachusetts delegation in the house.

The appointment to the customs court is one of the choicest gifts with which shall carry with it prestige and social position at the capital. It being specified in the tariff act that the court shall sit in Washington.

15 WERE INJURED

Electric Cars Were in Collision Near Millbury

MILLBURY, July 31.—Three persons were seriously injured and a dozen others more or less painfully cut and bruised when two cars of the Worcester & Blackstone Valley street railway met in a head-on collision near the Worcester line at 4:40 yesterday afternoon. The three most seriously injured were removed to the Worcester police ambulance. They are: Maxine Allen, 45, of 55 Madison street, Worcester, fracture of right leg; Charles Ritter, 21, 12 Prentiss street, Worcester, internal injuries and contusions of the knees. Those receiving minor injuries were: Mrs. Margaret Columbus, 255 Boston street, Boston, badly shaken up and superficial cuts. Mrs. Amelia Perry, Canal street, Millbury, lacerated and nervous shock. Mrs. Charles Ritter of Prentiss street, Worcester, knees bruised and shaken up. Morris Siminsky, 54 Providence street, Worcester, back injured; taken home in a hack. W. G. Kester, rear of 17 Gardner street, Worcester, nose broken. Thomas McGovern, Coral street, Worcester, back and hips hurt. Mrs. Columbus of Boston and Mrs. Perry of Millbury treated in office of Dr. J. R. Lincoln in Millbury. Joseph Veau, 35, 184 Grafton street, Worcester, deep cut under chin; three stitches taken in wound in Dr. Woodward's office in Worcester. Several other passengers were slightly injured by flying glass, but none of them seriously. The collision was caused, according to the company employees, by the failure of the car crew which left Worcester at 3:55 to wait at what is known as Sprague's turn, close to the city line. The crew was Motorman Lege and Conductor Arthur W. Rice. They half a closed car, with 14 passengers aboard, and stopped at the Grafton street switch to get orders. The dispatcher says he telephoned them to go to Sprague's switch and then "call in" for further orders as the inbound car, on open track with 27 passengers, in charge of Motorman Paul Goolley and Conductor Martin O'Neil was behind him. Instead of waiting at the Sprague switch, the car crew of the southbound trolley tried to meet the other car at "Hove" turn in Millbury. This car had passed that point, under orders to make Sprague's switch, and the trolley met at the brow of a slight hill near the Lowell farm. Both cars were running comparatively slow at the time, because of the damp up the hill. Motorman Goolley of the inbound car was the first to see a collision was inevitable and he reversed his motor and jumped. Maxine Allen, who was on the front seat, could not jump in time to save herself and was caught in the crush and sustained a broken leg. The two cars met with a crash, and the inbound car, which was under reversed power, bounded back from the other and started to run back toward Millbury on the down grade. It then encountered another little hill and stopped on this second incline. The driver of the closed car and its passengers was more serious. Motorman Lege was caught in the front vestibule and crushed back through the woodwork and glass into the body of the car, where he was caught in a tangle of bent iron so that his shirt had to be cut off before he could be liberated. IF IT DISAPPEARS, IT'S ECZEMA

How To Tell Whether a Skin Affection is An Inherited Blood Disease Or Not. Sometimes it is hard to determine whether a skin affection is a sign of a blood disorder or simply a form of eczema. Even physicians are often puzzled in their diagnosis. The best way for any one afflicted is to go to Fals & Burklushaw's, Carter & Sherburne's, or any good druggist who handles pure psalm. Apply this and if the itching stops at once and the trouble is cured in a few days it may be set down as having been eczema, as this is the way psalm acts in the worst case of eczema, and in curing acne, herpes, blotches, rashes, piles, salt rheum, rash, barber's and other forms of itchy, scaly scalp, and all surface skin affections. Those who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, can receive, by mail, free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

JUSTICE MILLS

Puts Some Pointed Questions to Thaw

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 31.—It was the judge, not the prosecutor, who ruffled the assurance of Harry K. Thaw on the witness stand yesterday. Exaggerated ego, "the insane delusion that the possessor is a person of supreme ability and importance," may prove a bar against the release which he seeks from the Matteawan insane asylum. When District Attorney Jerome finished his cross examination yesterday Justice Isaac Mills, at whose term of the supreme court the slayer of Stanford White is striving to prove himself sane, assumed the role of inquirer and put a series of questions that in the judgment of many were more pertinent than any of those asked during the 12 hours Thaw has been on the stand. "You are going to argue with me," said the justice, "that it was through you have shown an 'exaggerated ego' and you have had the assistance of the ablest counsel, one of the leading attorneys of this country, but I have observed you constantly interrupting him and making suggestions. In your former litigation you have constantly interrupted your counsel. Why don't you trust Mr. Morgenthau?" Thaw was clearly nonplussed. "This was a feature of his conduct upon which Mr. Jerome had not touched."

PAVING STONES

Stolen From the City of Lawrence

LAWRENCE, July 31.—Lieut. Voss of the police department, who is investigating the alleged larceny of paving stones from the city, stated yesterday that he would make a report to Mayor White today. The presence of one load found in a lot on Lawrence street, he states, is explained by the fact that a teamster dumped it there because he was late and wanted to get home. There are several loads, however, to be accounted for, and yesterday a citizen on Railroad street reported that he saw three loads of blocks delivered in the yard of a manufacturer in that locality. Ex-Alderman John F. Young, on whose property two loads of paving stones were found, stated yesterday that he knew nothing of them, but had found, upon inquiry, that they had been delivered by a team owned by a member of the present city government, whose name he would give to the police.

HANIFORD DEAD

Farmer Was Murderously Assaulted

BOSTON, July 31.—William H. Haniford, a market farmer of South Weymouth, who was found on a road in that town on Wednesday, dying from wounds in the head, succumbed early today. A blood-stained baseball bat lying near his prostrate body indicated how he received his wounds. The police believe he was attacked for the purpose of robbery as he was known to carry large sums of money. With the death of Haniford it is expected the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon which was made against William S. Conant in the district court at Quincy will be changed to that of murder.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE.

"The Girl in the Box," which is the current weeks' bill at Lakeview theatre, continues to draw good sized audiences at every performance. Mr. Kennedy in the role of Harry Hardins, the actor, is afforded ample opportunity for display of his ability and the supporting company are seen to advantage. Next week's production will be a four act melodrama, entitled "Why Women Hate Women," in which Mr. Kennedy is seen in a light comedy role, that of Bob Simpson, a young man who is private secretary to one of the leading politicians of Texas. In the effort to aid his employer and thwart his political foes, "Bob" plays the part of an amateur detective and receives several disclosures, the principal one being that of a young woman in evening dress and it is said that Mr. Kennedy can wear an evening gown with the skill and grace of a Julian Sillings. "Why Women Hate Women" will be presented at Lakeview every afternoon and evening next week.

HOTEL BURNED

Many Guests Had Narrow Escape

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 31.—Hotel Tabor on Tybee Island, a seaside resort, was burned shortly before daylight this morning, a hundred guests fleeing from the building in their nightclothes. So far as known no one was killed or injured. The flames had a clean sweep of the Tabor depot, to the beach, and through the tide belt, bath houses, pavilions, etc. The loss is practically complete. It is thought $100,000 will cover the loss. Many of the guests after the first fright returned to their rooms only to escape again from their burning buildings with a new of their most valued belongings.

CIVIL SERVICE JOB THE ANNIVERSARY

The Mayor Cannot Appoint New Of Landing of the Pilgrims Observed at Duxbury

City Sealer Position Was Placed Under Civil Service Laws Last May While Mayor and Aldermen Were at Loggerheads Over It

DUXBURY, July 31.—With historical pageantry, elaborate in every detail, portraying the crucial events of the history of the pilgrims in England, Holland and somewhat later in this vicinity, Duxbury today celebrates and commemorates the landing of the pilgrims at Plymouth and the coming of their daughter, military commander, Captain Miles Standish, to this town. While to Plymouth is given the fame of being the first settlement of the pilgrims, this town claims the honor of being the home of the first soldier of New England and his last resting place. Here also is the imposing Standish monument, which will be dedicated in the near future. This towering shaft, surmounted by a statue of the captain on the Standish farm, is the largest structure in the country with the exception of the Washington monument in Washington, commemorating an individual. The monument and the Standish tomb near-by, marked by a large boulder flanked by four three-ton cannon and piles of 50-pound shot, were among the most attractive of the many historical places in the town where hundreds of visitors viewed today previous to the pageant, which was arranged to take place late this afternoon. The arrival of seven tugboats with ten officers from Admiral Schomburgk's fleet at Provincetown was the initial event of the celebration. Following shortly afterwards was a meeting in the Unitarian church at which the principal address was delivered by former Gov. John D. Long, while others expected to speak were Lieut. Gov. Frothingham, Commodore Win. S. Moore, Elmer S. Curtis and two descendants of the famous captain, J. Miles Standish and Dr. Miles Standish of Boston. The guests and leaders in the celebration then dined at the town hall, which was decorated to represent an old New England kitchen and where a number of women of the town dressed as Puritan maidens waited on table. The crowning event of the day was arranged to occur late in the afternoon with 100 Duxbury people participating in a reconstruction of scenes in the days of the pilgrims.

Now the mayor, it is said, has offered the position to Alderman Frank W. Cheney, suggesting that he resign from the board of aldermen and take the new position. If the mayor will look up house bill $73 which passed the house May 19, the senate May 11, and was signed by the governor on May 15 he will find that it has placed the city sealer under the civil service. The bill reads as follows: An act to include principal and assistant sealers of weights and measures in cities within the classified civil service. Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives in general court assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows: Section 1.—The civil service commissioners may prepare rules which shall take effect when approved by the governor and council in the manner provided by law for including within the classified civil service all principal or assistant sealers of weights and measures holding office by appointment under any city, whether such officers are heads of principal departments or not. Section 2.—This act shall take effect upon its passage. Mr. Scott, therefore, cannot be removed except for cause in the manner prescribed by the civil service laws.

100 YEARS OLD

Calais, Me., Observes its Anniversary

CALAIS, July 31.—The city of Calais will celebrate its 100th anniversary as a town corporation today. Elaborate preparations have been made to carry out an extensive program with Gov. Fernald as a special guest together with the mayors of the neighboring New Brunswick cities of St. Stephen, Milltown and St. Andrews. Excursions will be run from all the region nearby. There will be literary exercises, a parade, band concerts, dedication of a memorial fountain, given by H. R. Eaton, balloon ascensions, fireworks in the evening and a salute of 100 guns to open the festival. A delegation of Passamaquoddy Indians, in full costume of long ago, will be a feature of the celebration.

BAY STATE TEAM

Won Shoot at Wakefield Tournament

WAKEFIELD, July 31.—It has been another remarkable day for the Bay State range, and the Bay State team have been making a record. The whole day has been devoted to the second stage in the New England trophy match and the distances shot were the 200 yards rapid, the 100 yards rapid, and the 50 yards rapid. The Bay State team was tucked in the morning, firing commencing at 8 o'clock. The weather conditions were ideal at the start but gradually grew worse as the match progressed, consequently the men who were drawn early had considerably the best of it. Some excellent scores were made, Massachusetts exceeding its last year's score by 20 points and Rhode Island improving its last year's score by 25.

$700 IN CASH

WAS TAKEN FROM A SAFE IN HAVERHILL.

HAVERHILL, July 31.—A safe in the room of Victor Amiraault, of 78 Water street, was deposited some time yesterday and $700 in cash secured. The burglars must have spent a long time in the house as several holes were bored through the steel doors of the safe. Amiraault returned home at about 4:30 yesterday afternoon and found the safe blown open and overturned. The cash loss having been ascertained, the cash box having been pried open with a crowbar. Amiraault is a laborer and owns considerable real estate. He kept the safe in the room and the house was unoccupied after 7 a. m. when he goes to work. The burglars overlooked other valuables in the safe, including five bank books which represented deposits of $500, but in addition to the $700 in cash they secured a silver watch and two full suits of clothing. The police have been unable to find a clue to the robbers. The safe bore no marks of powder or nitroglycerine, but it is supposed that dynamite was used.

MONSIGNOR HEVEY

OLDEST MEMBER OF NEW ENGLAND MONSIGNORI RESIGNS.

MANCHESTER, N. H., July 31.—The resignation of Very Rev. Mr. Pierre Hevey as pastor of St. Mary's church of Manchester has been tendered to Bishop Guerin and will take effect Sept. 1. Rev. Fr. Hevey, who is the oldest member of the monsignori of the New England hierarchy, and the oldest clergyman in the New Hampshire diocese, is at the point of years of service, will retire because of advanced age. Since 1872 he has been in charge of St. Mary's parish, which is now four times larger than when he assumed control. Fr. Hevey asked that his resignation take effect on July 1, but Bishop Guerin prevailed upon him to remain until Sept. 1. MR. LAWSON

TREATED WITH THE BEST DOCTORS IN LONDON, ENGLAND, AND DID NOT RECEIVE ANY RELIEF FROM HIS CATARRH AND KIDNEY TROUBLE, UNTIL HE TOOK TWO BOTTLES OF DR. GRADY'S PURE MALT AND RYE.

I now take pleasure in writing a few lines in praise of DR. GRADY'S PURE MALT AND RYE. While I was in the British navy I contracted, what my physicians said was renal catarrh. I also suffered a great deal with kidney trouble. I tried everything doctor would prescribe. I went to the best doctors in London, England. When I came to this country I tried two bottles I found a great relief. The catarrh has almost left me, and I am more than pleased to say I am now completely cured of kidney trouble. Any person who wishes to know the great value of DR. GRADY'S PURE MALT AND RYE for catarrh and kidney trouble can call on whites to use.

WOMEN IN POLITICS DON'T

WOMEN IN POLITICS DON'T WANT VOTES.

Two women who have been observing politics in Washington at close range are fixed in their opposition to equal suffrage. They are Miss Dolly Curtis, sister of Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, and Mrs. Gore, wife of the United States senator from Oklahoma. Miss Curtis is her brother's business agent and confidential secretary, and to the members of the house and of the senate she is known as one of the cleverest politicians of the day. She gathers material for her brother's speeches, and she has come out and worked actively for him in all his campaigns.

cream or a sundae would put a penny in the plate to erect a monument to the inventors of ice cream they could build a tower so tall that they would make the tallest monument look like a fencepost. While it was Dolly Madison who first married ice cream, they tell us it was the wife of a young naval officer, Nancy Johnson, who invented the ice cream freezer. She deserves as much credit as the president's wife. They were one in achievement; they should be one in fame and immortality.

The passion for individuality in room decoration is growing rather than diminishing. A charming young matron has conceived the most original scheme of decoration for her drawing room, which is at once fascinating to the artistic sensibilities and smacks, too, of much common sense. The parquet floor is covered with white bearskin rugs. In the middle of the room is a huge sofa that accommodates several sitters comfortably. This sofa is upholstered in black and white satin to show off to advantage the woman who sits upon it. Two capacious armchairs are covered with large pieces of old brocade, and there are four original chairs placed beneath the shade of a monster plant. Two flame colored azuleis in pots show up against a cream white wall. In the background are merely a baby grand piano and its accompanying stool and a writing table and chair. The curtains separating this room from the library are of purple velvet, and the window hangings, instead of the usual white muslin, are of gray chiffon.

A black and white photograph showing a large, dense tree in the foreground, its branches and leaves filling much of the upper half of the frame. Behind the tree, a building is visible, featuring a prominent chimney on the left side. The building appears to be a two-story structure, possibly a house or a small institutional building. The ground in the foreground is covered with what looks like grass or low-lying vegetation. The entire photograph is enclosed within a thick black rectangular border.

Dolly Littlejohn, 56, says her career, since she left her home, has been full of ups and downs. She has never lost a moment of the interest of her work, for she always, she told us, felt she was doing a very fine job. It was only the result of the problem she had been a cerebral woman, that in something like February 1967 she died.

The man has a "ghost" that was involved in his own death and marriage. For him, his men have been involved in his past, at a low and a high level of work, as another and could be the best

PICKLED ONIONS.

Take small button onions, remove the outer skin with the fingers and the seed with a silver knife (steel discolours them), throw into salt-water, allow them to remain for twenty-four hours, then put them on the fire in a pot lined preserving leafs with fire water and let them come to a boil, remove from the fire, pour off the water, put onions in a large stone jar above hot but not vinegar, which has before been scalded, with rice, with pepper pods, unground spices, onion peppercorn, and a little sugar, and a handful of sugar and salt to taste, cover, set away until cold, then bottle when spices are used they should be put in a small cheese cloth bag and thrown into the vinegar. This recipe is the necessity of stalling.

Boak half a package of gelatin. Soak in a cup of cold water for half an hour. Scald a pint of milk in a double boiler and stir in the soaked gelatin and strain through cheesecloth. Boil yolks of three eggs, add a heaping cup of granulated sugar and add the boak mixture, stirring constantly. Let cook to double boiler and cook and stir until it begins to thicken. Whip a half of an egg stiff. When the yolks begin to coagulate around the edges set the bowl containing the whipped white in ice water and beat the jelly in by spoonfuls gradually until all is in and the sponge is thick and smooth. Turn into mold.

Peel, core and slice sufficient apples to fill a baking dish. Toss the apples with a little oil and put in the apples in layers, alternating them with cranberry crumbs and a little melted butter, using two tablespoons of the latter to one cup of apples. Let the last layer be a thick one of cake crumbs and put moderately hot oven until the apples are tender. Then heat together a cup of sugar and two tablespoons of melted butter and pour over the apples. The apples are very tart, add one cup of sugar and pour it over the apples. Bake for 15 minutes. The apples are done when the oven until the pudding is a golden color and serve with cream.

A woman who has had long experience in cooking rice in Japan usually separates white grains in this way: She washes the rice until the last water is clear and all the flour coating the grains has disappeared. Then she throws it into rapidly boiling water and when it is about three-fourths done she moves, drains it, puts it into a dish, covers it and finishes the cooking in the oven.

This is also good to serve with meat. It is possible to get wild plums for the purpose. They are better than the ordinary ones. Soak them so that the skins may be removed easily. Put them in a preserving kettle in alternate layers with sliced apples, sliced peaches and sugar. The sugar is used in equal weight with the fruit. Cook on the back of the stove until thick and smooth.

Some old fashioned cooks and possibly younger ones boil up the tender pea pods with the peas, removing them after the peas are tender. The pea pods are nearly as sweet as the peas and have much the same flavor. The thinner white husks are often cooked with the ears of green corn to preserve their sweetness.

Most people have at one time or another had to fix on their front doors the notice, "Please Knock—Bell Out of Order," but very few seem to know what a simple thing it is to keep an electric bell in working order.

To begin with, the battery jar requires filling up occasionally, as the water evaporates, and if this is done regularly, say once a month or so, the bell should not need other attention more frequently than about every eighteen months.

lar and fill with water to which crushed sal ammoniac has been added in the proportion of a quarter of a pound of sal ammoniac to a quart of water. The sal ammoniac must be first dissolved in cold water, and then sufficient should be poured into the jar to nearly fill it. Of course in the mechanism of the bell is out of order the services of an electrician will have to be called in, and that is a different matter. Many people send for the electrician when all that is needed is the addition of sal ammoniac.

Brown university has done a gracious thing in bestowing a degree upon Julia Ward Howe. The universities of the country have been slow in recognizing women with academic honors, and in this they seem to follow the plan of the universities of Europe, which has been to keep women out of the slightest honor. Mrs. Howe is almost 70 years old, so that Brown can be heartily. However, better late than never, and it is certain that in the future other women of her spirit and work in the world will not have to wait so long for academic glory. Bowdoin college gave a degree to Miss Sarah Orne Jewett for literary achievements, and the University of Chicago sent a woman professor, and its delegate to the recent inauguration of a college president.

Even the motor hat must be treated with due respect if it is to be insured a long and reasonable career, and many motoring Frenchwomen are said to carry with them an ingenious little folding hat stand like a miniature violin music stand furnished with a hollow half ball top in nickel, which stands up and telescopes to a few hats and metal about six inches in length.

This is of course intended to stand on the dressing table of the village inn which boasts no accommodation for hats.

Why does not some clever manufacturer invent a parasol cover which may be slipped over the light colored or lingerie kashade when it must be carried on a railroad train? The new long handled parasols are hopeless when it comes for packing for non-will fit in ordinary dress trunks, even if they are in the current-fashioned fashion and the only alternative is to carry the delicate material along in the train and risk its becoming soiled with dirt. One woman asked me for her parasol from dark colored cloth, binding the top and bottom edges with navy ribbon, but these covers are not to make, and even the best of them have a bulky look. Let the umbrella man come to the rescue and provide a practical, neat and smart looking pack for the traveling parasol.

Those compact and convenient envelope and letter sheet pads come now in covers of green or scarlet maroon.

A WHITE bag purse of linen and Irish crochet baby lace dangles like a chatelaine bag from the belt of a lady when she wears her best Irish girl gown. It is very strong and useful, besides giving a Parisian touch to the costume.

A pretty ballroom fancy comes from Paris—that of carrying fans made of artificial flowers. One carried by an American belle at a recent reception was of lilacs of the valley, which were massed upon the sticks toward the ends. Roses, violets, all kinds of artificial flowers, are utilized, and the fans are tied with ribbons of a color harmonizing with the color of the flowers.

It Is Built For Outdoor Sports and Aerial Touring.

HAVE you seen it, the treasure of the gown?
It was originally built for Miss Stinson of a member of the Frenchman's Aerobics as an aeroplane costume. But now the Parisian couturiers are using this woman who are content to show their sporting pleasures in an everyday dress. But for aerial touring it is an ideal costume, consisting, as it does, of a bifurcated skirt which is graceful and modest and a meshwork four waisted bodice devoid of any trimming that might catch in the machinery and jeopardize the life of the occupants of the flyer. The material is a pale tan broad cloth, and a smart little close shall adopt it for "all outdoor occasions."

Will they do it?

Listen to what the host factors in America have to say about the possible winning out of this freak costume.

A well known New York "fashion" says American women will never take the gown seriously. "Do you think," says another dressmaker, "that women who have carefully trained their fingers for—well, we won't say how many years—are going to take up something which is so fully antithetical to that hard work and wear and tear on the system? Well, I guess not."

If Yes, It Is Because They Do Not Know How to Philoso-phize---A Hint as to the Remedy---Coming and Passing Fashions.

THE one thing women don't seem to realize the value of is compromise. A woman takes a stand, and neither heaven nor the other place can move her from it. She doesn't care if by holding on to her opinion she loses everything in the world. She won't budge an inch.

It's a well known fact that women enjoy being martyrs, and perhaps this has something to do with their obstinacy.

But men have no such illusion. I can tell you. Their whole work is run or to an extent never before seen in day-to-day life. It is compounded without using white lead, which makes it comparatively harmless, and it has the merit that, no matter how warm a woman becomes, it never comes off.

Women who have brown necks should use it anyway, whether they believe in it or not. Nothing you rub like this can do it good very quickly when it becomes a case of undoing the winter's work in high collars, and the buildy powder by covering the surface absolutely really flushing it.
